The McGarrahan Claim

The Herald has several times made unfounded accusations against Senator Williams for his action in the celebrated McGarrahan claim. That paper of course knows nothing about this affair. Williams reported adversely to the claim and is charged by the Herald with having been bribed to do it. Had he reported in favor of it the Herald would have condemned him for countenancing so great a swindle. The following article from the San Francisco Bulletin gives a succinct account of the nature of the claim and shows what sort of a job it is that Williams opposed and condemned:

To the surprise of every one at all familiar with the facts of the case, this bogus claim has been revived once more in Congress, after receiving what was generally supposed to be a final quietus at the hands of the Committee on Private Land Claims in the Senate of the United States, last summer. Nothing daunted by three overwhelming defeats, in which the weakness and utter worthlessness of his claim were exposed in the most clear and crushing manner—first, by the United States Land Commissioner; second, by the Supreme Court of the United States, and, thirdly, by the scathing report of the Senate Committee above named—the claimant again presents himself at the door of Congress and asks for another hearing. He pretends to bring new evidence in support of his claim, but he can bring none worthy of credence. What was satisfactorily disproved fifteen years ago, cannot be established at this late day by testimony of any value, especially in connection with such men as Gomez, notorious in the annals of California land claims. All the material facts bearing upon it are matters of record—have been so for years—and may be seen by any who care to inform themselves; they are conclusive and indisputable. We say so, because the highest tribunal in the land has declared it, and the decision has been affirmed by a committee of the Senate of the United States in the most unequivocal manner after a rigid and impartial scrutiny.

But what signifies honor, justice and public virtue in a matter of this sort? The claimant understands human nature, and has judiciously changed his tactics. He no longer relies upon the justice of his claim, but upon self interest and the corruptibility of public sentiment by which public men may be reached, if, indeed, by no more direct means, and made to close their eyes upon the shameless fraud and dishonesty which mark the history of the claim from its inception. The modus operandi will be indicated further on. Meantime we shall present a simple outline of facts which, as before stated, are matters of public record, and can be readily verified by reference.

The claim is styled the "Panoche Grande" Rancho, embracing four square leagues of land in the county of Monterey. It was presented before the Board of Land Commissioners appointed by Congress for the settlement of land claims in California, by one Vincent Gomez, in the year 1855—was found to be totally unsustained by documents or public records or satisfactory evidence that any such proofs of title had ever existed, or that the property had ever been occupied or even seen by the claimant. It was accordingly rejected by the Board on the 26th of March, 1855. An appeal was taken to the United States District Court for the Northern District of California; but at the instance of Pacificus Ord, counsel of Gomez before the Board, the case was transferred to the Court of the Southern District, and here begins a course of fraud and scandalous malfeasance in office, by which alone a claim of such a character could have any show for success.

Ord, to whom had been privately conveyed an undivided half of the property for the nominal consideration of $1, was at that time District Attorney of the United States for the Southern District of California, representing, or, rather, we should say, misrepresenting the Government in the very Court where this claim in which he was so largely interested was under adjudication. That he procured its transfer to that Court as above, for greater convenience of manipulation who can doubt. True, another attorney was employed to represent the case, but under Ord's direction, and the whole tract was confirmed to the claimant without argument or evidence, upon the statement of Ord as United States District Attorney, that the Government had no objections to offer to the confirmation. A decree was accordingly entered to that effect.

Subsequently, however, in the course of proceedings for the final dismissal of the case and leave to proceed under the decree, the complicity of Ord was discovered, and his successor in the office he had prostituted, took an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. The above facts much more fully stated may be found upon the records of that tribunal. After a full hearing of the case upon its merits, the Court unanimously reversed the decree of the District Judge, declaring it to have been fraudulently obtained, and directing the petition of claimant to be dismissed. The opinion of the Court is delivered in terms which leave no room for doubt, either as to the merits of the case, or the disreputable means by which it has been almost won. (See report in Howard, Vol. 23, and Wallace, Vol. 3; also, Report of Senate Committee of June 29, 1868.)

Pending proceedings in the District Court, McGarrahan purchased the interest of Gomez and after the decree of confirmation by that Court, procured a secret survey at his own expense, by which, as appears from the deposition of the Surveyor General of California, and the certificate of the Commissioner of the General Land Office of the United States, the Gomez claim was floated 16 miles southward of the metes and bounds indicated in the petition of the claimant, so as to be made to cover the property of the Idria Quicksilver Mining Company. Upon this survey, decided to be insufficient by the Commissioner of the Land Office, even were the claim of any value, McGarrahan is now seeking on purely technical grounds, relief from Congress, or rather permission to rob and despoil a company which has expended half a million of dollars upon their works, in good faith and reliance upon the protection of the laws.

Such, in simple terms, is the record of this renowned claim—a fraud from beginning to end—but kept alive from year to year by the very effrontery of the claimants, and the unscrupulous measures employed by himself and his accomplices for that purpose. Should this succeed a more disastrous blow against the true interests of California, one that would do more to unsettle confidence in the stability of property values and to discourage that public spirit and enterprise which are filling its waste places with the abodes of thrift and industry, could hardly fall upon us. Surely we must hope that Congress will not lend itself to a measure so flagrant and damaging.

McGarrahan has now associated with him some of the most experienced and unscrupulous lobbyists, and is energetically at work on a line of policy from which every hope of success is a libel upon our institutions and our Government. Upon the presumption that the mining property of the New Idria Company is of fabulous value he has, it is said, organized a company of his own, with a nominal capital of $10,000,000, and by a liberal distribution of the shares has subsidized a number of influential persons at Washington and elsewhere, among others, some of the most able and accomplished newspaper correspondents at the National Capital, whose glittering or fanciful sketches are designed and well adapted to make the worse appear the better reason, mislead the public mind, and create false sympathy in behalf of the claimant, surround the subject with an atmosphere of prejudice, and otherwise embarrass, if not defeat, the ends of justice. Of the venality of some men, whose cooperation is necessary to their success, no question can be entertained, and such are provided for; but there are some whom no price will turn aside from the conscientious discharge of duty, who cannot even be approached, and to whom the only hopeful appeal is through the medium of public sentiment, manufactured for the occasion, and infusing itself into their prejudices and views of right. By perpetual agitation and the use of such means, McGarrahan hopes at length to override law, justice, equity, and acquire a property to which he has no rightful claim.

The Crown Prince of Prussia has been paying about fifty thousand dollars a year—one seventh of his income—in carrying on a model farm, but as it is not a model in either agricultural or pecuniary sense, and as the Prince takes no interest in it, he is about to sell it.

American Cookery

In America the science of cookery has been much neglected until of late years. Nowhere may incompetent cooks in the country, and in New York and Boston especially may be found many excellent gastronomers. As I have before said, no country in the world represents a greater abundance and variety of food than America, and in no country are the means of obtaining good materials for good food so readily discovered. If the reform which has commenced in the great cities spreads throughout the country it will add vigor to America, which will not only conquer its great enemy, dyspepsia, but it will grow rich out of the saving which scientific cookery affords. Too much meat is eaten in America. The Anglo-American race live muscle, and therefore eats most of the food that produces muscle. Beef and mutton being the most nutritious of animal food and the best to supply the waste of muscular power, are the unvarying diet of a majority of the people.

Many intelligent persons who are wise enough on other subjects, are exceedingly careless about what concerns their very life. When I see men who never or very seldom use their muscles live entirely on steak and roast beef, which is exactly the opposite to what nature demands, I cannot help pitying them, and wishing that they would listen to nature.

The lower animals, with the exception, perhaps, of two or three species, such as the boa constrictor etc., are much wiser than man; they do not feed contrary to nature's demand. A man who has a sedentary occupation, who does not breathe the pure air more than once a week, should not eat steak more than once a week, and other meat once every other day.

Instead of paying thirty five cents a pound for a too often sole-leather steak, let the man who wishes to live a natural lifetime buy occasionally good fish for eight or ten cents a pound. Instead of becoming strong on a beef diet, a man of sedentary habits withers like a leaf in the Fall, becomes dyspeptic, consumptive, and dies before having reached half the age he would have if he had paid attention to his food.

By eating too much and too often of the same article of food it naturally becomes difficult of digestion and unpalatable, and requires stimulants of some kind along with it, at least so nearly everybody thinks. A change of diet would be the right course; but instead of that, strong bottled sauces, catsups, pickles, etc., are largely partaken of, and, together with too much liquor of one kind or the other, the food is bolted and our poor stomachs are left to perform their overwork. Is it a wonder that dyspepsia and consumption should set in?

Steak eating is not so general in England as in this country to day, and it is only fair to say that there is here, at present, a marked tendency to vary the food. It will surely bring the butchers to their proper work. There are already several butchers in New York who know their business; and nearly all the butchers of Philadelphia and Cincinnati cut their meat properly. Why should they not all do the same?

I constantly hear housekeepers complain that they cannot get the pieces of meat they want, nor have them properly cut. This is too true, and the reason is plain. A man who was a shoemaker yesterday and a butcher to day cannot expect to know how to cut meat properly. It may not always be as bad as this, but the statement is not wide of the truth.

But there is another, and I think the main reason why meat is generally so poorly cut, and the pieces asked for have such an unsightly appearance. A large share of the people in the cities live on beefsteaks three hundred and fifty days in the year. As a consequence, butchers, in order to supply the demand for the favorite article, have recourse to every sort of artifice—cutting, mashing and bruising the meat. They are obliged to sell three-fourths of a beef under the name of "porter house steaks," to satisfy the law of supply and demand. What is the result? Steaks (I mean every piece of meat sold under that name) command a comparatively high price, varying slightly according to the name the butcher gives them.

No matter how large a beef may be it has only two tenderloins, and they weigh about nine pounds each on an average; hence, as I say above, in order to supply the great demand for steaks, butchers are obliged to sell some other parts of the beef as such. Even the addition of "porter house steaks," etc., was not sufficient, every part has been turned into steak.

It is complained, also, that butchers are unwilling to cut small pieces, that people are obliged to buy more than they want. If this is really so, people are very simple, and I do not wonder that the butchers impose large pieces on them. Buy no meat at all except a small piece, and that for a week only, and you will see if the butchers will not condescend to use their knives.

Another wrong conclusion in this country is to have the marketing attended to by the only person in the family who is unfit for it—the head of the family, the husband or father. What can you expect of a man with his head overfilled with his business, in a hurry to reach his office of a morning, merely saying to the butcher or grocer:—"Send this or that home." Suppose that the butcher is a sensible man, do you fancy that he has time to think for you? He has not. He has to attend to all his customers. But suppose he had, does he know your taste, your constitution?

Instead of the husband or father, let the mother or wife attend to the marketing, when the cook is not able to do it, and let everybody pity the husband and children whose wife and mother think it beneath her dignity to attend to her marketing. Let us say with the philosopher, "A little less fuss and false pride, and a little more comfort."

One word to the butchers. Please, when one of your customers buys a leg of mutton, behave like Christians, and do not, under the pretense of trimming and dressing it, crack, bruise and disfigure it as you do. Please, when you cut a steak, cut it a little thicker than a sheet of French note paper, as you often do. Please, when you trim chops send the trimmings with them—they make excellent gravy.—Prof. Blot.

IS BEING DONE.—What then is the fate of the absurdity in this phrase which has been a long and is widely used that, to me, people it seems an old growth of the language, while it is in fact yet a mere transplanted sucker, without life and without root? It is in the combination of is with being in the making of the verb to be a supplement, or in grammarian's phrase, an auxiliary to itself—an absurdity so palpable, monstrous, so ridiculous that it needs only to be pointed out to be scouted. To be—called by Latin grammarians the substantive verb—expresses mere existence or affirmation. It predicates of its subject either simple absolute existence or whatever attribute follows it. To be and to exist are perfect synonymes, or more nearly perfect perhaps, than any two verbs in the language. In some of their meanings there is a shade of difference, but in others there is none whatever; and the latter are those which serve our present purpose. When we say, he being forewarned of danger fled, we say he existing forewarned of danger fled. When we say that a thing is done, we say that it exists done. When we say, That being done I shall be satisfied, we say, That existing done I shall be satisfied. Is being done is simply exists existing done. To say, therefore, that a thing is being done is not only to say, in respect of the last two participles, that a process is going on and is finished, at the same time, but in respect of the whole phrase, that it exists existing finished, which is no more or other than to say that it exists finished, is finished, is done; which is exactly what those who use the phrase do not mean. It means this if it means anything; but in fact it means nothing, and is the most incongruous combination of words and ideas that ever attained respectable usage in any civilized language.—Richard Grant White in the Galaxy.

RAILWAY IMPROVEMENTS.

From the Chicago Republican.

Double axles of railway wheels for changing gauge at various points have been suggested and tried for the purpose of arranging through freighting facilities from the Atlantic seaboard to the Western interior without breaking bulk. This has finally been accomplished by a very cheap and of course simple invention. Last week a train of twelve cars, loaded with merchandise for Chicago, St. Louis, &c., started from Boston, over the Grand Trunk and connecting lines. The wheels are made to shift on the axle to the width of any required gauge, being fixed in the necessary place by keys, which are easily moved when it becomes needful to shift gauge at any station. A large number of cars are in construction on this plan which can, of course, be applied as well to passengers as to freight carriage.

All the World for White Pine

The Reese River Reveille, of the 27th ult., has the following:

The rush to White Pine appears to be on the increase, judging from what we read, hear and see. From morning until night teams, horsemen, and footmen, enter this city and pass onto the land of promise. During yesterday we noticed casually the following persons and things moving in that direction, three or teams each hauling two wagons loaded with lumber; one mule team hauling mill machinery; a Concord wagon containing one man, two women, and a child; two men on horseback, carrying rifles, and followed by a wicked-looking bulldog, three small farm wagons—one containing two men and a lot of household furniture, another, a man, a woman and a cat, and the last, the driver and packages of provisions; four mule teams, each hauling two large wagons filled with barrels of liquor, a little old man under a blue blanket coat, mounted on a tall mule, a Concord wagon containing six Chinese men, their goods and chattels; seven mule and horse teams, hauling lumber, shingles and merchandise, a cart, drawn by a single yoke of antique and bony oxen, containing a cooking stove, several boxes, a few pieces of "side meat," and a very long heavy rifle—the sole attendant of which was the driver, a tall, weather-beaten, iron-looking man, of apparently sixty years of age; a queer looking vehicle, a sort of improvised rockaway, or German state carriage, in which were many trunks and boxes, and three persons—a man driving, an elderly woman of consequence holding a cat on her lap, and a small Indian girl, nine wagons, drawn by oxen, horses and mules, and filled with traps, thirteen men of all nations, afoot, packing their blankets and bottles, and followed by fifteen ill-looking hybrid dogs; three wagons containing the remnants of a California brewery, a substantial covered wagon, in which were three ladies of remarkably free ways and speech, and one man driving. One of the ladies, who was pretty, saw us looking at her, and said something to us which we could not repeat; five strapping boys form the "ould sod," afoot, without blankets, each carrying a bit of a stick, and roaring with fun as they passed; three Mexicans mounted, and driving one mule packed; two wagons containing a saloon and fixtures, eleven teams of twelve mules each, and each hauling; two first-class wagons piled up with casks, barrels, kegs, boxes, and baskets, leaving a strong suspicion of spirits; two men on horses, with grave bearing, and looking like evangelical parsons; five colored citizens on white and gray horses, dressed in fancy blanket suits, smoking cigars, and talking louder than white folks, more wagons; six teams; one wagon—and so the living flood set in upon White Pine, until night closed the scene.

A Lost Genius.

I knew a woman once, gifted so extraordinarily by God that she might have been a florist, a musician, an artist, a physician, a teacher, an evangelist,—since to the mastery of any one of these callings she could have brought a nearly equal power and passion. Whatever her fiery mind fastened upon it fused into itself, nor was there anything her cunning right hand sought to do in which it did not excel. At fourteen her precocity was so great that her father cut short her studies, because she "knew enough for a woman," and made her a teacher in his school. At sixteen she married a young clergyman. Children came fast. Her health gave way, but her energy remained. She was never idle a moment, but, alas! neither father nor husband nor one of all her twelve brothers and brothers-in-law saw that it would be better economy to give the genius, they were all so proud of, a musical or an artistic or a medical education, that she might pay with her earnings some commoner mortal to make clothes for her little ones, than to let her do it herself with the painful toil of the needle. And she had been brought up with too narrow a vision of woman's duties and destinies to understand herself that she was wasting her life and abusing her powers. All her ready gifts were, in her eyes, merely appropriate feminine "accomplishments," and to make fame or money out of them never occurred to her as a possibility, far less as a duty. And yet her mind was ever in a fever of desire, of invention, of agonized craving for the realization of the dreams of beauty, of beneficence, of friendship, that tormented her. The music rang in her ears; the pictures floated before her eyes; the fearful and wonderful human organism haunted her brain; the dread mysteries of sin and suffering, the awfulness of human responsibility, the glories of salvation, burned upon her lips as she taught her children their daily Bible lesson; and still, nailed to her chair, the swift needle went in and out,—went, as it often seemed to her, through her delicate lungs as well as through the cloth,—until at nine-and-thirty the struggle ended, the body, after long paroxysms of exquisite anguish, gave up its strong hold of life, and the rich soul exhaled away to Heaven, rejoicing to escape from the bars against which it had so long beaten its bright wings in vain. I saw her in her coffin, with an expression of freedom and exaltation upon her marble features that seemed a glory reflecting down from her now triumphing far off spirit, and I resolved to remember the woe and earthly wreck of her thwarted nature, and never to cease until I saw some better way for women than this which can so horribly waste and abuse their finest powers.—Atlantic Monthly for February.

Book-readers are continually annoyed by uncut leaves. All will therefore welcome the day when "uncut copies" are the exception, and not the rule, as now. The London Daily News, speaking on this subject, says:

Is it not time the paper knife was condemned as obsolete, or classed among the useless ornamental lumber with which our ladies love to load their drawing-rooms? That this is not possible, for the reason that books and periodicals are still sold uncut, is no slight reproach to the publishing trade, and one which it behooves their customers to bring home. It is the singular conservatism of the members of that trade which makes a paper knife necessary at all, and we should be glad to know if there be any grounds upon which what seems to be a stupid anachronism can be defended. It is clear that the act of paper cutting can be performed on a large scale at an infinitesimal cost, and that the whole of the uncut books and magazines now issuing from the press are so many encroachments upon the good nature of the public ... difficulty or want of knowledge ... means can be advanced. The ... books and magazines are sent into the world ready for use for any such plea to be ... Still the example set by Punch ... followed by very few of the periodicals, while bulky volumes come before us every day in the year which require an amount of mechanical drudgery to be spent upon them before they are fit to use.

There are few things more irritating than to be ... in a book of absorbing interest, to have the time as well as the inclination to ... and to be suddenly pulled up ... instrument with which to ... bookseller ... resolved to spare us this ... and petty worry, and war to the paper knife should be the constant cry of every ... of books.

Brigham expects an immense amount of people to come to Salt Lake when the railroad reaches there. He has had a vision or a dream which commanded him to build a grand hotel, costing a million dollars, and he is going to do it.

After All.

The apples are ripe in the orchard,
The work of the reaper is done,
And the golden woodlands redden
In the blood of the dying sun.

At the cottage door the grandsire
Sits pale in his easy chair,
While the gentle winds of twilight
Plays with his silver hair.

A woman is kneeling beside him,
A fairy young head is pressed,
In the first wild passion of sorrow,
Against his aged breast

And far from over the distance
The faltering echoes come,
Of the flying blast of trumpet,
And the rattling roll of drum

And the grandsire speaks in a whisper
"The end no man can see
But we give him to our country,
And we give our prayers to thee"

The violets star the meadows,
The rose-buds fringe the door,
And over the grassy orchard
The pink-white blossoms pour

But the grandsire's chair is empty;
And the cottage is dark and still;
There's a nameless grave in the battle field,
And a new one under the hill.

And a pallid, tearless woman,
By the cold hearth sits alone;
And the old clock in the corner
Ticks on with a steady drone.

Robert Browning.

Mr. Browning stands, with few rivals in the last and none in the present, at the head of that, in fault of a better phrase, may be called intellectual poetry. There are poets who rank him in imaginative lustre, there are more musical minstrels, there are—though these are few—warmer and more delicate colorists; but for clear, vigorous thinking, perfect sculpture of forms embodying thoughts (sculptures too tinted with the flush of life, with veins of blue and red,) for the utterance of the right physiognomical word and phrase, he has no superior since Shakspeare. Yet intellectual as it is even to a Greek severity, beyond even Landor here,—it would by no means express the charms of his writings to style them philosophical. No theory can quote him, nor is he at all ethical. His religious fervor shows in points of white fire on every page, and yet no work aims at a moral lesson or object. He writes neither fable nor allegory. The world of men and women, with their so[illegible] passions, hopes, and loves, and the vast arenas for their play opened by these as rivers cut their channels,—these are enough for him. His worship is for man; his faith must find its joy in a divine Man. The world of forms, the city of bodies, represents to him the scattered rays of this mysterious humanity; and his art is not to change them into any [illegible] monotony, but to cultivate and guard them in their various vitality and meaning, and report their dramatic interplay. To philosophy and science all is unity; the poet is a creator of variety out of this unity which shows Faraday but one element, Tyndall one force, Hegel one idea, underlying all actual or conceivable combinations. How grandly he has created his forms may be best learned by considering the fertility of his invention as displayed in all his volumes. No poet of this generation has approached Robert Browning in the richness and originality of his plots. While around him the gods and goddesses of Greece and Rome have been masquerading in contemporary cos[illegible]s,—while critics have been often limited for a generation at a time to the question wh[illegible] Smith's Venus or Cupid is finer than J[illegible]'s,—while every Oriental or Scandi[illegible] or Italian legend has been made to do duty like the profe[illegible] models whose faces and forms, now bright, now brown, reappear at every [illegible]demy exhibition,—this poet has evolved a [illegible] of the most beautiful frames, as well as portraits, in attestation of which we need only, for the reader of Browning, mention Pippa Passes, Paracelsus, The Flight of the Duchess, and The Blot on the Scutcheon.

In the Ring and the Book, there is no work of Browning's later life whose charm and power are not represented. To the singularly original and powerful plot of the story there is added a fulness of dramatic treatment, and a play of intense expression like the fatal silent swerve of globe-lightning, of which it were hopeless to attempt any critical analysis. A poet's felicities belong to the sacred inner tabe[illegible] of his genius, where he has mastered the secrets of his art. Were profane eyes to [illegible] there where the worker is making his tapestry, they could only see a mass of threads and tangles; but what skill is behind there let the cartoon of the outside [illegible]! And we have no fear but those who have eyes to see great forms (even though they have not a perspective reaching back to the time of Dante or Shakspeare to compel recognition of their grandeur) will find them in the living tableau, which represents and justifies the recent silent years of Robert Browning.—Atlantic Monthly, for February.

SAGACITY OF A HORSE.—An old family horse that has been running at will through the streets and commons lost one of his shoes yesterday, and with the intelligence of a human being the old horse walked up to the blacksmith shop where he had been shod for the last twenty years and to the best of his ability asked the smith to shoe him, by raising his foot and stamping the ground. The smith, being busy, drove him away several times during yesterday, and thought nothing of it. This morning, on going to the shop, he found the old horse at the door. Again he drove him off, but the horse came back, and entering the shop walked up to the anvil, and there raised his foot, thus attracting the particular notice of the smith, who examined his foot, and finding it worn off to the "quick" kindly picked up an old shoe, and fitting it to his foot, nailed it on; when the grateful animal, frisking his tail by way of thanks, trotted off contentedly.—Madison (Ohio) Courier.

WATERING ROADS.—A paper was read before the British Association on this subject, tracing the history of the practice from the time of throwing water from the gutters with a shovel to the watering-cart of the present day, which inadequately does the work in London, for instance, at the cost of half a million (gold) per Summer. The paper states that 1 pound or 1-2 pound of chloride of calcium chloride of sodium mixed to 1 gallon of water, thrown into the watering cart, hardens and concretes the surface of a road to such an extent that no dust arises. Also that the saving of water is 75 per cent. that the delinquescent salts are also antiputrescent; and that much cost of road repairs is saved.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!
IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.
It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.
It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

E. B. MOORE,	NATHANIEL BELL,
A. L. WALLACE,	G. R. WARD,
Mrs. MONTGOMERY,	JOHN M. HOLLOWAY,
W. D. PORTER,	ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others in that vicinity.
Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.
Prepared by SMITH & ROACH,

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON for the county of Multnomah—Henry L. Pittock, Plaintiff, vs. James P. O. Lownsdale, Administrator, James P. O. Lownsdale, Guardian of Millard O. Lownsdale, Millard O. Lownsdale, Ruth A. Lownsdale, John A. Blanchard her Guardian, Ida Squires, Wm E. Cooper her Guardian, Emma S. Lamb and John R. Lamb her husband, Mary E. Cooper and Wm E. Cooper her husband, James P. O. Lownsdale and Hannah and Hiram Smith, Defendants.—Summons in equity to quiet title to Block 215, City of Portland, Oregon.—To Ida Squires, one of the Defendants above named: Whereas the plaintiff above named has filed in the Court above named a complaint, of which you are hereby notified, and claims title to that parcel of land known as Block No. 215 in the City of Portland, Oregon, to which, it is said, you and other defendants set up some claim adverse to plaintiff, and prays that said adverse claim be determined and that you be excluded from any lien, interest or estate in said land; and whereas a summons was duly issued and you were required to answer said complaint in ten days if served in said county or within twenty days if served out of said county; and you were not served within said State, but it was shown that you were a non-resident of the State of Oregon, and an order of publication was made by said Court, to the end that you might be notified of the pendency of this suit: Now, therefore, in the name of the State of Oregon, you, the said Ida Squires, are hereby notified of the pendency of the above entitled suit and are required to appear in the Court above entitled at the City of Portland, on the first day of the next term thereof, to be held on the second (2d) Monday of June, 1869, and answer said complaint, or in default thereof, the said complaint will be taken as confessed and the plaintiff will take judgment against you, and a decree according to the prayer of said complaint as above set out, as well as for general relief

OF THE

Weekly Oregonian.

FOR 1869.

Nineteenth Volume!

Only $3.00 a Year.

By common consent, the OREGONIAN ranks first among the papers published in the Northwest. It is the oldest paper in the State, and its circulation and influence are greater than that of any other two papers combined. As a journal of enterprise in gathering the latest intelligence, and in giving in each issue a larger amount and greater variety of reading matter it has no competitor. It is thoroughly identified with this city and State and neighboring Territories, where the number of its readers and its influence are constantly increasing

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles, it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST, but to everything of moment to the great

Agricultural, Manufacturing,

AND MINING INTERESTS,

And to the development of the resources and settlement of the Northwest.

Its columns contain a carefully prepared digest of

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS

OF

Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

TELEGRAMS FROM

are published as full as in the California journals, and put before our readers from ONE TO THREE DAYS BEFORE ANY OTHER PAPER IN THE STATE.

Among its corps of writers are regular correspondents at New York and Washington City, men who, having lived in this State, are able to write on Eastern affairs, both politically and commercially from an Oregon standpoint.

Its Literary and General Selections are from the best sources.

EXTENDED AND RELIABLE

are furnished every week, giving the Financial, Dry Goods, Hardware, and General Market Reports of Portland, and the latest reports by Telegraph of the San Francisco and New York markets. These reports are acknowledged to be the most accurate published in the State.

In every department it will be, as it has been, the foremost in the State in the field of journalism. Being firmly established, it will go forward with confidence, making new plans for improvement and usefulness, and hopes to gain increased circulation and support.

TERMS:

One Year	$3 00.
Six Months	2 00.
Three Months	1 00.

The WEEKLY OREGONIAN has been a favorite paper for mailing to friends in the East. It will be mailed from the office at subscription rates.

Subscribers will find on each paper, with their names, the date on which their subscriptions expire, as entered on our books. In renewing, the name of subscriber and post office should be distinctly written.

All papers are discontinued at the end of the time for which they have been paid, the date of which is always printed with the name each week.

REMIT BY MAIL AT OUR RISK, in presence of Postmaster, or pay to the nearest authorized agent.

We ask our friends to aid us in extending the circulation of the OREGONIAN in every direction.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.
How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, spotted and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of [illegible], or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.
Seminal Emissions the consequence of self a[illegible]. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of me[illegible], hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove—[illegible] rily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,
Or those who contemplate marriage, who are [illegible] under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.
DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give the patient a written instrument, binding him [illegible] radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.
Persons at a distance may be CURED AT [HOME] by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has con[tinued] and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from [illegible] curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in re[gistered] letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.
Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the [illegible]. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and be[illegible] lazy to work at their trades Some are tinners, [illegible] makers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office [illegible], etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863 The only way to avoid [illegible] tion is to make enquiry—it will cost you [illegible] may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive [illegible] by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended [illegible] letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat disease that he proposes to cure.
Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial San Francisco Post Office Box 252.
REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE [ENVELOPE], Consultations FREE.

Oro Fino Theater — The first appearance of Mr. Chas. Wheatleigh, which occurred last night, brought out a very large audience, the theater being literally packed to its utmost capacity. The play—"Under the Gas Light"—was put upon the stage in a style which did great credit to the management. The scenery was as perfect as any ever produced for the place anywhere, and but for a slight accident or two, the machinery worked admirably. When the curtain rose upon the third scene of the third act, and displayed "Pier 30" with the waves dashing against it, Jersey City in the distance, the ferry boat plying back and forth with wheels and walking beam moving as in the actual scene, and the small boats darting out and in as if really sculled through the water, the audience broke out with enthusiastic and prolonged applause. The scenery in the 4th act was also applauded. The truth is, no such scenery was ever before produced here. It is something new for Portland to see a steamer or a railroad train pass across the stage looking the very counterpart of the real article. Yet the appointments are, in this play, so well got up that the spectator can almost swear he has seen the ferry upon North river and the train of cars pass Shrewsbury station. Of Mr. Wheatleigh's acting, in the character of Snorkey, we must say that while we are, in some respects, disappointed, the personation is very good. He makes no apparent effort at effect, and his quiet, easy manner, might frequently and easily be mistaken for carelessness, and yet this style often displays more real art and comes nearer to nature, than very demonstrative acting. Upon the whole, we are disposed to pass favorable judgment upon Mr. Wheatleigh and we have little doubt but the public will do the same. He was called before the curtain at the close of the play. Mrs. Bates played Laura Court land quite effectively, and was very often rewarded by [illegible] demonstrations of approval by the audience. In the fourth act, where she breaks down the door of the station house in which she is locked, and saves the life of Snorkey, the applause was most enthusiastic and so prolonged that there was nothing for it but to ring up the curtain upon the scene and tableau again. Barry's Counsellor Splinter was as much like a genuine Tombs shyster as the original article itself. Mr. E. N. Thayer played Byke, the villain, in good style. Mr. Hamilton's Bowery Boy was really first rate and brought the house down repeatedly. Miss Field, as the girl who was never brought up, was a decided success. We have never seen her to better advantage than she appeared in Peach Blossom. The performance by Messrs. P. Thayer, Vinson and Thornton, were excellent, while Miss Cummings and Mrs. Bird were very good. The entire play was, without [illegible] the best of the sensational kind that has ever been [illegible] in this city. It will be presented again to-night [illegible] the same cast and with such attention to details [illegible] prevent the recurrence of the mishaps of last evening.

[illegible].—The following items are from the Salem [illegible]: Yesterday our city was visited by a [illegible], though not as severe as has been seen. ......The [illegible] Company have given up for the present the purchase of a new fire engine. They think, [illegible], that they will get a new one some time this [illegible]. The company think some of trying to purchase a steam fire engine, though that subject has not been fully [illegible] as yet......Mr. Thatcher, road superintendent for the California & Oregon Stage Company, informs us that if the weather continues as fine as it is at present, the company will commence running on short time the first of the month. The time then from Portland to [illegible] will be five days......The Oregon Children's Aid [illegible] Asylum building, which was commenced last [illegible] the grounds belonging to the society, lying east of the city, is nearly completed. All the wood work [illegible] it only remains to spread the last coat of paint before the job is completed. The building is thirty [illegible] and two stories high, with a large woodshed [illegible] also, a large and commodious cellar under the [illegible]. It is thought the buildings will be sufficient for the present requirements, and it is so constructed that it can be greatly enlarged by a main building in front, when the society shall be able, and need more room. As now constructed the edifice presents an imposing appearance.

A New [illegible] Source of Wealth.—In a late issue of the Coos Bay Times we find the following liberal notice of the Coos Bay coal fields: "The coal business at Coos Bay is having a rapid and renewed development; and at no time since the commencement of the shipping of coal from that point in 1856 to this port, has that branch of business looked so favorable as at present. We understand that the Eastport Coos Bay Coal Mining Company intend to ship large quantities to this market henceforth. The [illegible] are Levi Stevens, I. Raymond, J. S. Dean, [illegible], Claus Spreckles, W. H. Sharp and J. L. [illegible] Pool. From the report of Mr. [illegible], the [illegible], who has made a thorough survey of the coal fields of Coos Bay, it appears that the coal produced by [illegible] mines of this company is of the quality known as "[illegible] coal;" that it is of a superior quality for domestic [illegible]; is remarkable clean, leaves but little ash, [illegible] without disagreeable odor, and can be laid [illegible] at a cost of seven dollars per ton. The [illegible] belonging to the above company comprises six [illegible] forty acres of land, underlaid by the coal [illegible].

Have we a Street Commissioner?—The City Council, [illegible] evening, elected Mr. Joseph Sloan, formerly Deputy Marshal of the city, to the office of Street Commissioner. For a long time the office has been either vacant or practically so, as very few of the duties [illegible] by ordinance have been performed by the persons who have drawn the salary. It is to be hoped that the "coming man" has been found and that hereafter the condition of the streets will be looked after. Mr. [illegible] says that if the ordinances are sufficient to clear the [illegible] and sidewalks of the obstructions which have [illegible], they shall be cleared in due time; and [illegible] the ordinances are at fault he will seek to have [illegible] so that they shall be sufficient. Parties [illegible] wholesale and retail stores, wood yards, lumber yards and impassable bridges, on the sidewalk and street may look for immediate notice to quit. A few days will tell how the query, "Have we a Street Commissioner?" is to be answered.

[illegible] Library.—The following new books have [illegible] added to the Portland Library: Lossing's celebrated History of the United States, the finest of our [illegible] that has ever yet been published. It is illustrated [illegible] four hundred engravings, and has been prepared with great care for the purpose of supplying a want [illegible] by the reading public and especially by heads of families. Every important event in the history of the [illegible], from the Aboriginal period to May, 1868, [illegible] in a concise but perspicuous and comprehensive [illegible], without giving those minute and often tedious [illegible] which are valuable to the student but irksome to the common reader. The Great Metropolis; a mirror of New York. A complete history of metropolitan life [illegible], with sketches of prominent places, persons and [illegible] in the city as they actually exist; by Junius Henri Browne.

Passengers for Victoria.—The steamship Gussie Telfair, sailed at 4 o'clock P. M. yesterday, for Victoria, with the following named passengers: Lieut S B [illegible], Lieut W C Manning, Capt W H Rice, Maj G [illegible], Harvey Pike, Mrs H Pike and child, Thos [illegible], Wm Rentoe, E A Waldhams, P McQuade, Robt A [illegible], D B Milligan, P Richter, Mrs Ford, Miss E Kel [illegible], Capt E H Wickson, W Froman, H J [illegible], H Meirs, wife and children, T Hanford, Aaron [illegible], A M Pringle, Mr E M Pringle, Mrs Everson, Jno [illegible], Chas Greene, A Mole, John H Hall, wife [illegible], Chas Hall, Thos Marshall, H Scandle, J [illegible], Chas Clayson, D McDonald, Patrick Lynch, P [illegible] Livingston, Mrs Moore, Chas Hall, R M Rawley, [illegible].

[illegible] for California.—The C. O. & M. S. Co's [illegible] Oriflamme sailed at 2 o'clock P. M. yesterday, for San Francisco. The following is her list of passengers: B R Mears, Maj T R Mears, J B Knapp and wife, [illegible], F Welsman, B Brennen, A Knox, Miss Ada Phillips, F A Turnbull, A H Whitehead, F O Taylor, [illegible] Ford, William Hill, G A Barnes, J S Williams, [illegible], Philip Levin, L May, Mrs Sipena Irno, G E Hill, M Goodwin, John Simpson, A Gordon, H Hedges, Mrs J [illegible] and 2 children, Alex Doge, G M Banks, H [illegible], F Wheeler, D Johnson, J Johnson, R Wilcox, Alex Reber, Wm Le Burr, Jno Billings, W McFay, Mrs [illegible] Gilkey and 2 children, Miss A Gilkey, Wells, Fargo & Co's [illegible], and 12 in the steerage.

Portable Steam Saw Mill.—We learn, says the Commercial, that Samuel Douglas, for a long period the courteous and gentlemanly captain of the Portland Ferry No. 1, is [illegible] engaged in putting up a portable steam saw mill, to be used in the timber about one mile and a half east of [illegible]. The engine will be of 40 horse power, and the [illegible] saw 58 inches in diameter. He anticipates [illegible] operations about the middle of next month. The casting will be done at the Willamette Iron Works.

[illegible] Soap.—Mr. Kane, agent for the Imperial Soap [illegible] this morning that experiments are made at the [illegible], on First street, second door from Hurgren & Shindler's, every day from 9 A. M. to 1 P. M., showing what the soap will do in the way of removing dirt, grease, tar, or any other substance from clothes. It is warranted to wash out from clothes everything that can be removed by any cleansing process.

Preparing to Leave.—For several days, many of the [illegible] who have been spending the winter here, have been making preparations to leave for the mines. W[illegible] a dozen or more of them, yesterday, in a hardware store, bargaining for shovels. They say they are going to Walla Walla, but it is probable they are going to work upon the bars of the Columbia.

The Steamer Wilson G. Hunt.—"The Wilson G. Hunt," says the Olympia Tribune, "went into dry dock at Olympia on the 21st inst., when thirty men went vigorously to work with caulking irons and mallets, and, before the return of the tide, made a visible impression upon the hull of the steamer. It is proposed to copper as well as caulk her before she leaves the dock."

Petition Circulating.—The Commercial says a petition is being circulated in the city, to have the toll gate moved beyond the city limits, as persons residing in the [illegible] portion of the city are compelled to pay toll every time they pass through with a small vegetable wagon.

Going to the Sound.—A gentleman from Salem who took passage on the Telfair, yesterday, for Puget Sound, says that there are numbers of families in Marion county who will migrate to the Sound country during the coming season, to secure the advantages expected to accrue from the talked-of railroad.

Rain.—The rain "which for a space did fail," began again yesterday to pour down plenteously and as wet as wet could be. All right—nobody is growling.

Repaired.—The repairs to the steamer Ranger have been nearly completed, and she will in a few days resume her regular trips down the river.

Sailed.—The steamship Geo. S. Wright, Langdon, Master, sailed at 6 o'clock last evening for Victoria, taking a fair complement of passengers and freight.

Good Friday.—There will be religious services held in the Unitarian church this evening at 7½ o'clock.

there are some parties in this valley who contemplate emigrating to the country east of the Cascade range in the region of Sprague river and [illegible] Lake. A gentleman of this city recently addressed a letter of inquiry to Mr. E. L. Applegate of Eugene City, concerning the practicability of the road from Eugene across the mountains, and received in reply the following, which we publish for the benefit of those who may think of going that way: "The road over the Cascades [illegible] for wagons as far as Cresent Lake, [illegible] to Des Chutes [illegible] Lake, [illegible] Des Chutes until [illegible] river to Klamath Lake. This is a fine route for cattle and pack animals."

White Pine on the Brain.—We find in the Mining [illegible] a list of new incorporated [illegible] White Pine Mining Companies. [illegible]

[illegible]

An Eastern paper reports that the President recently spoke thus of the tenure of office law: "If they do not repeal the law, I certainly cannot make any changes. I cannot remove a man without making charges of a character which would blast his reputation and that would not be very agreeable, you know, and the result will be that the men who hold office now will continue to hold them until the end of the term, no matter what my desires may be. Of course this will save me all this office hunting boring." We don't believe Grant ever said anything like this, for it is sheer nonsense. If he wishes a man removed all he has to do is to send another name into the Senate. This has always been the method of making removals during the sessions of that body. As the Senate will be in session fully half the time during Grant's term, there will be opportunity to make all removals that may be desired. There is no probability that the Senate would refuse to confirm any name which the President might send in.

Forbidden Marriages.

Portland, Oregon, March 23, 1869.

Editor Oregonian:

An article appeared in the Willamet Farmer of March 22d, viz: "The Catholic Rules of Marriage," which is certainly something new in its statement (for Catholics at least. First, it asserts that a Catholic who has a husband or wife alive, can be married again by application to the Bishop, and further, that previous to this Priests had the power. Secondly, that a Catholic married outside of the Church can be absolved from such violation of its rules by application to the Bishop and by a public repentance in the church of the party concerned.

Any Catholic, no matter how limited his knowledge may be of the doctrines and tenents of his religion, can and will deny any such statement, and for the sake of truth and not of argument, we ask you to insert in your journal our denial, and further state for the information of those whom it may concern, that no council of the Church, national or general, nor the Pope himself, could give any Catholic permission to marry again, while having a husband or wife alive.

I would refer those desiring information in detail on the subject, to the decree of the Second Plenary Council of Baltimore, where occurs the following passage: "If any Catholic divorced by a civil court dare to marry again a free or any divorced person, or any free person dare to marry a so divorced individual, let them understand that, obeying the prescriptions of the Second Plenary Council of Baltimore, and in order to show the horror of the Church for such unlawful and wicked marriages, we declare them excommunicated ipso facto, forbidding at the same time and under the same pain any person to assist as witness or any other way at such marriages." Should the gentleman desire to see the work containing the decree of the Plenary Council of Baltimore, he can do so by calling at the Catholic library rooms in this city.

CATHOLIC LAYMAN.

The horrible sufferings of the African coast of the wrecked crew and passengers of the bark Florence Nightingale, are recounted by the English journals. The twenty persons (including seven women) were nine days in an open boat, during which they drifted 200 miles under a tropical sun, and had only twenty pounds of provisions and not a drop of water all the time. Their provisions were soon exhausted and they began to drink sea water, which soon made a sailor, named Brown, crazy. When all the food was exhausted, they drew lots who should kill Brown before he died. The lot fell on a colored boy, who, however, refused. At that moment the Captain caught a fish, three pounds weight, having made a hook from a woman's hair pin, which he baited with a portion of a crab caught in some sea weed. While the fish was being devoured Brown expired, and was thrown overboard. Previous to this the crew and passengers had greedily sucked up some blood which came from Brown's body when the Captain bled him to moderate his frenzy; some crabs and butterflies were voraciously devoured. They were finally rescued by an American whaler.

The New Administration has filled the various offices, so have Barman Bros., filled their spacious store, corner Front and Morrison Streets, with the Latest Styles of Merchant Tailoring Goods, consisting of French Cassimeres, Beaver, Broadcloths and all kinds of Vestings, also a fine Stock of Ready Made Clothing, and Gents' Furnishing Goods, which they are enabled to sell lower than any other House in their city, as their Mr. Isaac Barman is constantly in the San Francisco market, purchasing at the most advantageous prices, of which their customers always have the benefit. Go and see them—no trouble to show goods.

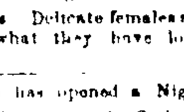

Plantation Bitters are especially recommended by Clergymen, Public Speakers and persons of literary habits and sedentary life, who require for digestion a relish for food and clear mental faculties. Delicate females are certain to find in these Bitters what they have long looked for.

I am now making, amongst other numerous styles of ARTIFICIAL TEETH, the improved Vulcanite Plates. Dr. W. Cool's Patent patented June 24, 1867, the improvement of which consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold, which totally makes the plate double as strong but lighter than the common Vulcanite Plate. It also can by it be made considerably thinner and lighter, whereas the price is but little above that for common Plates. Call and see specimens.

N. B.—Dentists wishing to secure the office right for Dr. G. W. Cool's Improved Vulcanite Plates, can have it made for them by applying to the office.

WALTHAM WATCHES.

The extensive use of these watches for the last fifteen years by Railway Conductors, Engineers and Expressmen, the most exacting of watch wearers, has thoroughly demonstrated the strength, steadiness, durability and accuracy of the Waltham Watch. To satisfy that class in all these respects, is to decide the question as to the real value of these timekeepers.

The superior organization and great extent of the Company's Works at Waltham, enable them to produce watches COMBINING THE BEST AND LATEST IMPROVEMENTS, and at a price which renders competition futile, and those who buy any other watch, merely pay from 25 to 50 per cent. more for their watches than is necessary.

For sale by all dealers.

HOAGLAND'S

NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!

W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,

Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha, so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 26, 1869.

England's Civil Service

One of the many writers who have recently been expatiating on the bad management of our civil service institutes a comparison between the civil service of this country and that of England. He shows that in her civil service England employs about fifteen thousand clerks, and that the average amount paid does not exceed $900 a year. The lowest salary is $400, with an annual advance of $50, provided the officer discharges his duties faithfully. It is true that $400 will go farther in England than twice that amount in this country, but the fact must also be taken into consideration that every ignoramus who "goes for" an office in England does not get it. Whether the applicant be eighteen or fifty; whether he be the son of a peer or a pauper, he has to undergo an examination and stand aside if he is incompetent. Say that a young man enters the civil service at twenty, at the end of ten years he commands a salary of $900. At forty he has $1,500 and is utterly unfit for any business avocation. It must be born in mind that this sum presents the shadow of a chance to "realize" side fees or pickings. No departmental officer or clerk in England receives a penny in the shape of "perquisites." In France and Germany the pay is less in proportion to the position and the amount of labor performed. Merit is more readily recognized in France, and promotion is more rapid where an officer displays remarkable talent.

What advantages, it may be asked, does the English or French system possess over our own? In the first place permanent employment is assured capable applicants, with fair compensation. With the certainty that his continuance in office depends upon his integrity, capability and the prompt discharge of his duties, every individual employed in the civil service, from the highest to the lowest, finds his account in acquitting himself in such a manner as to secure the approval of the public and the Government. Incapacity, laziness and dishonesty are placed at a heavy discount immediately. The moment the perquisites are cut off, the public cease to be plundered. The experience derived in the employment of the Government is placed at the disposal of the Government. The officer is benefitted, Government is shielded from the schemes of designing men, and the public reap the benefits of the officer's experience, and the saving insured through the employment of honest officers.

An Attempt to "Swindle."

Johnson moved a suspension of the rules, to allow him to offer a resolution declaring that in the passage of the 15th Amendment the House never intended that Chinese or Mongolians should become voters. The rules were not suspended—ayes, 42; noes, 106—a strict party vote.

The foregoing taken from the proceedings in Congress on the 22d, as found in yesterday's dispatches, shows a most barefaced attempt to defraud and mislead the people into the adoption of the proposed 15th amendment to the Constitution of the United States. In the first place it would have been untrue if it had been adopted. Then every Congressman ought to know that a construction of the Constitution or of an amendment cannot be given in a resolution by one or both Houses of Congress. This movement in Congress is only equaled by the lying telegram sent by Stewart, of Nevada, to the Legislature of that State to deceive them into the adoption of that amendment.—Portland Commercial.

The writer of the foregoing is a smart person—in his own estimation—but he has entirely misapprehended the meaning of the above dispatch. Johnson, the author of the motion to suspend the rules to allow the introduction of a resolution declaratory of the meaning and intent of the proposed amendment, is the Democratic Representative from the Northern District of California. This "barefaced attempt to defraud and mislead the people" is therefore of Democratic origin. The Republicans refused to suspend the rules to allow the resolution to be introduced because they know that, as the Commercial expresses it, "a construction of the Constitution or of an amendment cannot be given in a resolution by one or both Houses of Congress." There was no need, therefore, of the adoption of such a resolution as Johnson wanted to introduce. Hence the Republicans refused to suspend the rules, though every Democrat, including no doubt the Rev. Joseph Smith, voted with Johnson "to deceive and mislead the people." Johnson will come out to California next year howling because the House refused to allow him to introduce his resolution, and citing this fact as proof that the Republicans are determined to make voters of the Chinese. This movement which the Commercial so indignantly condemns was simply a little dodge on the part of the Democrats to make capital out of the Chinese question, as this forms now the sole remainder of their stock in trade.

Small Notes.

An Eastern journal opposes a territorial government for Alaska, on the ground that "the seals and icebergs will get on well enough under the old system of nature."

It is stated that explorations made by General Conner on Salt Lake, in his new steamer, prove that the water has risen thirteen feet since the first surveys, and is rising now one foot per year. The boat ran for a mile in one place over what was grazing land five years ago. It is thought that perhaps the subterranean outlet has been partially choked up.

The Philadelphia Press observes that the Irish Democracy of New York City are observing with distrust and alarm the increasing influence of the Germans in the politics of the city and State, and that the contest between these classes for the supremacy has already set in. The German immigration now exceeds that of the Irish at the rate of two to one.

In the Kentucky house of Representatives a short time since a resolution providing that the Committee on Judiciary be instructed to inquire into the propriety and expediency of bringing in a bill abolishing all discriminations against the right to testify in the courts of that Commonwealth, founded on race or color, was laid on the table, as quick as wink, by a vote of forty-five to sixteen. Kentucky Democrats, when they steal the property of negroes, don't want the owners to appear as witnesses against them.

Mr. Levins of the Unionist has come down a peg. From boasting that he was the great man of that establishment he has descended so far as to declare that he is only an employe on the same footing with the office boy or "devil." How convenient it is occasionally for some people to take refuge in obscurity or plead nonentity! But how about those laurels which were claimed for the author of the articles in favor of an extra session, which have appeared in the Unionist? Truly did the ancients declare that, "Whom the gods love die young."

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—In the House, the bill regulating the manner of applying to Congress for the removal of political disabilities, and the bill enforcing the 3d section of the Fourteenth Amendment, were referred to the Reconstruction Committee.

The Committee on the civil service bill is ordered to be continued.

Garfield reported a bill for taking the census, and gave notice that he would call it up on next Tuesday. The bill establishes a Census Bureau, the head of which will be appointed by the President, and the Assistant Superintendent will be appointed by the Secretary of the Interior in each Congressional District. District Superintendents will appoint all the necessary subordinates. The whole work is to be done in two months and the Bureau closed by May 1st, 1872. The population of each State is to be divided by 150,000 and the quotient will give the number of representatives to which each State is entitled. It is expected to give 270 members of the House.

Butler, from the Reconstruction Committee, reported a bill for the State of Mississippi. Beck moved to amend by making the Provisional Governor appointed by the President of the United States instead of the President of the Constitutional Convention. Farnsworth gave notice that he would move to postpone the question till next session. Butler proceeded to explain and advocate various provisions of the bill. Beck favored his amendment and denounced the last Mississippi Convention, which this bill proposed to reconvene. Other members participated in the debate.

The House adjourned.

In the Senate, Conkling made a personal explanation respecting the published statements of his remarks in caucus, on the tenure of office bill.

Trumbull reported a substitute for the bill to repeal the tenure of office act, the provisions of which are substantially as those telegraphed to-day.

Bayard moved to table the report. Lost.

Davis moved to substitute the House bill. Ruled out of order.

Grimes said he could not vote for the substitute.

Morton said the substitute presented the shadow rather than the substance of the tenure of office act. It was merely a bad photograph of a dead body.

Fowler made a general argument against the tenure of office act. Ross followed with a similar argument.

Sprague made a long speech of a general character, after which the report of the committee was adopted—37 to 15.

Trumbull then briefly explained the bill.

The bill passed and the Senate went into executive session soon after.

Adjourned.

Death of Ex-President Johnson.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Ex-President Johnson lies dangerously ill at Greenville, Tennessee. Dr. Basil Morris left this morning for that place.

CHICAGO, March 25.—The Journal's Washington special says ex-President Johnson died this morning of paralysis.

Murder at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—Last evening the body of the janitor of Girard Hall was found in the building, hands and feet tied and a pistol bullet through the head. A watch and a small amount of money was found on the floor.

Washington News.

CHICAGO, March 25.—The Times' special says the preliminary report of J. H. Snow, Special Commissioner appointed by President Johnson to inspect the Union Pacific Railroad, has been submitted by President Grant to the Secretary of the Interior. From the beginning to the end it is an attack upon the road.

It is stated that Col. Eli Parker has been decided to be a citizen although an Indian, and that he will be appointed Indian Commissioner.

It is stated that Ashley, of Ohio, will be appointed Governor of Montana.

The accredited Minister of the Cuban revolutionary government had arrived to ask recognition. The insurgent government seems certain of recognition, as the feeling for it is gaining ground in Congress.

The Republican's special says the House Appropriation Committee has agreed to postpone the deficiency bill till next session.

The Governor of Massachusetts has tendered Hoar's place on the Supreme bench to Congressman Dawes.

A Quaker delegation had an interview with the President to-day. One of their best men will be made Superintendent of some Indian Agency, with Quaker subordinates. If this plan works well a large number of Quaker appointments will be made next fall.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The Times advocates the total repeal of the tenure of office law because it is not a good law. It deprives the Executive power of all vigor, and renders the needed reform in the administration of the government impossible.

The World says that if the substitute be adopted Grant will be outwitted and circumvented.

The Tribune says the substitute is not what it could wish but will take it as a relief to the administration.

The Herald says the law should be repealed; that it is an insult to the people, and that the House of Representatives, the President and the people will be compelled to bow cap in hand to the supremacy of the Senate.

The Republicans voting in the negative on the substitute to the tenure of office bill were Messrs. Fessenden, Grimes, McDonald, Morton, Ross, Sprague and Warren. Absent Nye, Root, Sherman and Thayer. Present but not voting Fenton, Howe, Pomeroy and Robinson. Better informed Congressmen think the House will accept the substitute.

The President has nominated Giles A. Smith of Illinois as Second Assistant Paymaster General; Moses H. Grinnell, as Collector of Customs in New York, and several Collectors of Internal Revenue and Postmasters.

Amos Walker has written a long letter to Garfields, Chairman of the House Banking Committee, submitting another plan for the resumption of specie payments. He proposes to effect this by means of compound interest notes to the amount of the greenbacks, and to be convertible into 10:40 bonds at five per cent.

The case of Francis P. Blair, Jr, against John S. Thompson and others, was argued in the Supreme Court to-day by Montgomery Blair for the plaintiff and Senator Drake for the defendants. The case involves the constitutionality of the test oath in Missouri.

The Senate to-day confirmed one nomination only, Henry D. Moore, as Collector of Customs in Philadelphia.

California Appointments.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The following is the present outlook: Collector Miller finishes his term. Sherman probably ditto. Cole declines to join Sargent's recommendation to wait for naval officer. The President favors Colonel Hudson for United States Marshal. Postmaster Smith is unlikely to be suspended soon. The removals of Swain and Felton are again probable. Captain Rollis, it is thought, will succeed to the Registry in place of Shanklin, and Stone in place of Gunn.

Mr. Julian has introduced the Hutchings Yosemite bill.

Secretary Boutwell assures Mr. Sargent that he will soon personally give mature consideration to the proposition for abolishing the Treasury regulations requiring the sewing and cording of domestic goods, transported between New York and San Francisco, via the Isthmus.

Mr. Ryan states the average adjustment awards two hundred and seventy thousand dollars on the insurance of the Aquila and cargo, of which $71,000 in gold belongs to the city of San Francisco.

Substitute for the Tenure-of-Office Law.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The Republican caucus this forenoon agreed to a report of the Judiciary Committee on the tenure of office question. The main features are as follows: The President to have power to remove his Cabinet and other civil officers during the session of the Senate without giving a reason, providing the Senate fill the vacancies, and during the recess the President may suspend and appoint to office until the end of the next session. Within thirty days after the commencement of the session he shall report these suspensions to the Senate, and if that body, by a direct affirmative vote, refuse to concur, the suspended officers shall be reinstated. If the matter be simply passed over, the officers shall not be reinstated.

Miscellaneous.

BOSTON, March 24.—H. L. Dawes declined the appointment of Justice of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, tendered by the Governor.

London steamship companies decline to modify the terms of contracts for postal service between the United States and England.

NEW YORK, March 24.—The case of Fisk against the Union Pacific Railroad Directors has been transferred to the United States Circuit Court by order of Judge Blatchford.

The steamer West Philadelphia, from Hamburg, brought five million francs in specie.

A man who had been in the sewers for twenty-four hours emerged to day with a quantity of watches, jewelry and other valuables.

Judge Ingraham, of the Supreme Court, has affirmed the validity of the will of James T. Roosevelt, who left the bulk of his property to found a hospital.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 24.—All the Democratic members of the Legislature who resigned to prevent the ratification of the Fifteenth amendment, were returned at the special election yesterday, the Republicans making no opposition. The Governor has called the Legislature for April 6th.

The Ocean Queen, from Aspinwall on the 14th, has arrived. No news.

A Buenos Ayres letter gives a report that Lopez has ceded Paraguay to the United States.

SARATOGA, March 24. St. Nicholas Hall was burned this forenoon. Loss twenty thousand dollars. Insured.

CHICAGO, March 24. A statement is published denouncing as false the recent communication published in the Chicago papers, describing the alleged management and maltreatment of passengers on the Union Pacific Railroad. The letter was written in the interest of a rival enterprise and signed by many who were ignorant of its contents. Its allegations regarding the sufferings of the passengers and the inhumanity of the railroad employees are characterized as baseless fabrications.

TRENTON, March 24. The Governor sent the Fifteenth Amendment to the Legislature to-day, with a message giving his reasons why it should not be ratified by New Jersey.

PROVIDENCE, March 24. The Democratic State Convention nominated Lyman Pierce of Providence, for Governor; for Lieutenant Governor, Wm H Allen; for Secretary of State, Wm. J. Miller; for Attorney General, Geo. Bliss, and for Treasurer, Caleb Ryder. The Senate of Rhode Island has postponed the consideration of the Fifteenth Amendment till the May session.

HALIFAX, March 24. The report that a delegation is in Washington to negotiate for the annexation of Nova Scotia is without foundation.

The last snow storm was followed by a heavy rain, causing immense destruction of property in parts of Nova Scotia.

MEMPHIS, March 24.—A Little Rock special says the registration law has passed the House and Senate, and they have appointed a special committee to investigate the outrages of the militia in east Arkansas. The Republican calls on the Legislature to pass a militia indemnity bill to protect Upham and Cotterson from prosecution.

KANSAS CITY, March 24.—Col. Williams, editor of the Bulletin, and Major Whatgan, of the Times, went to a post near Wyandotte yesterday to fight a duel with double barrel shot guns at 30 paces. The Sheriff heard of the affair and arrested both. The affair originated in mutual personal strictures published in their respective journals.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Intelligence from Europe announces the death of the eminent French composer, Hector Berlioz, aged 66.

RIO JANEIRO, March 24. Lopez is concentrating at Tibeguary. He has detachments in the environs of Asuncion. Hostilities will be renewed soon.

From Cuba.

HAVANA, March 24.—Dulce has issued a proclamation declaring vessels captured in Spanish waters near the islands, with men or munitions of war aboard, will be treated as pirates and adjudged according to articles of war, irrespective of their points of departure or destination.

The brig Mary Lowell, captured by a Spanish man-of-war at Andalusia, is now cruising among the islands. The value of her cargo is estimated at $200,000, and consists of cannon and small arms.

A detachment of troops under Escalante has gone to Cienfuegos. Additional troops have also been sent to Cardenas.

A meeting of planters was held at this place to-night by request of Dulce to discuss the establishment of a rural police throughout the island for the protection of plantations.

News is received of a heavy battle between the insurgents and troops in the central department, on the road to Medios. The report of the battle is not made public, nor even the result. The Spaniards claim 800 rebels killed.

Sugar is buoyant, with large business and sales at 9 to 11 reals.

Spanish Affairs.

NEW YORK, March 25.—A special to the Herald, from Madrid, says the draft of the new Constitution was laid before the Cortes to day. The Government is to be monarchial, with Senate and Congress. The Senatorial term is five years, Senators to be elected by provincial councils for each province. The deputies to Congress are to be elected every three years by universal suffrage. The reign of the King is limited to eighteen years. The majority of the committee which reported the Constitution, are favorable to the separation of State and Church. The minority propose that the Roman Catholic be retained as the religion of the State with the toleration of other creeds. The liberty of the press and the right of public meetings are fully guaranteed by the new Constitution.

The Cortes has passed the conscription law.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—George Chabriet alias Chubbie, has been convicted of murder in the second degree for killing Horthawazer on Pacific street.

A "Homeopathic horse doctor" has his sign out in Baltimore.

STATE ITEMS.

Phoenix, Jackson county, claims the honor of a new gang plow. A patent will be applied for.

The Jacksonville Sentinel of the 20th reports that much more rain than has yet fallen is needed in that vicinity to insure good crops.

From the Jacksonville Sentinel: Mr. Colwell informs us that a fine barn containing a quantity of grain was burned near Kerbyville last week. It was the property of Messrs. White and Woodcock and was set on fire by a little child who had obtained some matches and was playing with them. Another lesson!

From the Roseburg paper: The railroad surveyors are progressing finely with their work through this valley. The route is already located to some distance south of the Winchester Ferry, crossing the North Umpqua river about one fourth of a mile below the ferry. The surveying party moved camp to Roseburg on Monday last, and they are now engaged in ascertaining the best route to and over the Roberts Hill. They thoroughly examine every possible pass before deciding in favor of any.

The name of the young man who was drowned in Umpqua river on the 3d inst was Zephaniah Brown. The Roseburg paper says: He was a native of Warren county, Illinois. It appears that Mr. Brown and two other men were on their way to Scottsburg in a boat, when the boat capsized. After clinging to the boat for an hour and a half with the other men, he started to swim to the shore, but had only swam a short distance when he sunk. Diligent search was made for the body, but it was not found till this week. He leaves a wife, parents and many other relations and friends.

The Sentinel calls for a survey of Goose Lake valley. It says: It seems that no surveys have been made within ten miles of the boundary, between Oregon and California, on account of its not having been definitely fixed. This leaves a strip of country near one hundred miles in length and ten miles wide, which people are very anxious to have thrown open for settlement and certainly there is no reason, except it be lack of funds, why it should not be surveyed at once. We hope Surveyor General Applegate will perceive the imperative necessity for this work, and have it commenced immediately.

We remarked the other day that the United States revenue law would be enforced, and that it would not be safe for any one to take the Herald's advice and wantonly violate it. To this that paper rejoins: "Such language will sound well on the ear of slaves, but it is most repulsive to citizens free born." Pah! This is the old twaddle of the South Carolina chivalry. They were not going to be such "slaves" as to obey the authority of the Government. But they obey it now, nevertheless. The idea that it is "slavery" for a people to obey the laws enacted by representatives which are chosen by themselves every two or four years, is quite in the style of Democratic Jacobinism. "The submission of a free people," said Junius in his first letter to the Public Advertiser, "is but obedience to laws which they have themselves enacted." This is the rational idea of freedom, but the Herald calls such obedience an odious servitude.

Gen McCandless, a "War Democrat," has been spoken of as Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. He writes a letter in which he says he cares nothing for the nomination, but wants General Hancock to have it. He says: "The Democratic party should have learned by the bitter experience of the last few years, that it cannot, in either State or National Convention, ignore its active, living element without incurring defeat." In other words, the old fogy, secesh, bed-rock element, must take back seats.

IN HOC SIGNO VINCES.—Quick sales and small profits. "By this sign we shall conquer" all opposition at THE OREGON DISPENSARY. The same inscription might be properly affixed to another sign which is the symbol of hundreds of successful battles with the BODILY AILMENTS of our citizens at less costs than formerly. All purchase Drugs, Medicines, Perfumeries, etc., etc., at the Cheapest and Best Drug Store in Portland, and receive Medical and Surgical attention gratuitously.
LORYEA & KALLENBERG, 73 First street.
DR. J. A. CHAPMAN, Consulting Physician and Surgeon.

GREAT EXCITEMENT.—The constant buzz of activity at KOHN & FISHEL'S yesterday, was occasioned by the receipt and opening of a very large and complete stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods—Spring Styles—purchased and sent up from San Francisco, by Mr Fishel, who is acknowledged to be one of the best judges of that line of goods, doing business in this city. Call and see the Spring Styles.

Army Reductions.

Speaking of the proposed reduction of the [illegible]my, the Albany (N. Y.) Journal of a recent [illegible]te truly says

"We owe it to Andy Johnson and the [illegible]emocratic party, that this reduction has not [illegible]en accomplished before. They taught the [illegible]outh that it had not been defeated in the [illegible]ld, after all, that it had only to maintain a [illegible]ntumacious and uncompromising attitude, [illegible] secure terms far more liberal than any that [illegible]ad been proposed in Congress. The result [illegible]as a refusal to accept the Fourteenth amendment; the organization of Ku-Klux Klans, a [illegible]eneral raid upon free negro labor and negro [illegible]itizenship, and such a series of systematic [illegible]utrages and murders as made necessary the [illegible]ntervention of military law and the presence [illegible]f troops, in order to prevent whole States [illegible]rom becoming scenes of carnage, desolation [illegible]nd a general war of races. Such was the [illegible]rice we paid for having a traitor and apostate in the Presidential chair But for the [illegible]cerency of the Executive, the whole problem of reconstruction would have been satisfactorily settled before this. The readiness [illegible]f the South to follow his bad suggestions, [illegible]as been at the bottom of all our sea of [illegible]roubles. General Grant himself exprsesed [illegible]is opinion that it would be unsafe to withdraw the federal troops from the Southern States a year ago; and events have abundantly shown the wisdom of this judgment. Since the election of November, however, wiser counsels and a more moderate temper have prevailed among the leaders of Southern opinion. It is no longer probable that there will be any organized resistance to the Congressional plan of reconstruction, and we shall therefore be able at an early period of President Grant's Administration, to dispense with the military jurisdiction of the States."

LUXURIOUS PEST HOUSE.—The Gold Hill News says:

"The rooms at the county pest house are gradually being furnished in the richest and most sumptuous style imaginable. When Frank Osbiston recovered from the small pox a short time since, he sent all his valuable furniture—black walnut bedstead, marble topped mahogany bureau, rich looking glasses, washstand, chairs, carpet, etc., all to the pest house. The very rich furniture of the rooms where Alex. Maugé died, at the Capital lodging house, B street, Virginia, has also been sent to the pest house. How much more agreeable, yes, even positively luxurious, it is thus to 'lay off' with the small pox amid the downy couches, velvet cushions and mahogany magnificense of the pest house, than to sulkily crawl away to some lonely, vulgar [illegible] cabin on the hillside, there to groutily roost, itch and fester on a common mattress, and perhaps scab off this 'mortal coil' amid such inferior surroundings. It is getting to be almost a desirable object to contract disease in order to gain admission to the pest house. Thus a man may struggle through abject poverty all his days, yet, if he is lucky enough to get the small pox, he may die in the lap of luxury at last."

Alexander Dumas, the elder, says that no one sho[illegible] pair from want of success at the first [illegible] He commenced life amid a number of disco[illegible] failures. The girl with whom h[illegible] [illegible] in love never found it out until [illegible] another man. The first [illegible] he carried to the [illegible] was rejected in almost [illegible] The first [illegible] which he wrote [illegible] The first [illegible] of nearl[illegible] whom he fo[illegible] he [illegible] with hi[illegible] of his which was per for[illegible] which he read [illegible] he had written, was full of [illegible] The [illegible] dramatic success he met with was dimmed by the insolence with which the [illegible]nager, in his presence, attributed the triumph that had been achieved, not to the play, but the skill of the a[illegible]tors. The first house he bought had a bad title and involved him in a lawsuit. The first journal he started was ruined by the malicious intrigues of a hostile coterie.

GRA[illegible] AND COLFAX—MODEL PAPERS.—General Grant's brief letter of acknowledgment [illegible] to the journal of Congress thus:

GENTLEMEN: Please notify the two houses of Cong[illegible] of my acceptance of the important [illegible] to which I have been elected, and of which you have just notified me; and say to [illegible] that it will be my endeavor to so [illegible] it that and those who elected them shall have no reason to regret their action.

[illegible] it stands that of Mr. Colfax, in [illegible] words:

G[illegible]: Pl[illegible] convey to the two ha[illegible] of Cong[illegible] my acceptance of the office to which I have be[illegible] elected by the people of the United States, and assure them that I shall endeavor to prove worthy of this mark [illegible] by fidelity to principle and [illegible].

THE [illegible] OF APPLICATION.—Seek to acquire the power of continuous application, without which you cannot expect success. If you do this, you will soon be able to perceive the distance which it creates between you and those who have not such habits. You will not count yourself, nor will they count you, as one of them. Thus you will find yourself emerging into the higher regions of intellectual and earnest men—men who are capable of making a place for themselves, instead of standing idly gaping, desiring a place without the power to command it. Keep on striving to accomplish more and more every day, and thus enlarge constantly the range of intellectual ability. If you learn to do as much work in one day as you used to do in two or three days, you are as good as two or three such men as you formerly were, boiled down to one.—Dr. Wayland.

It is said to be a very brief process to be hanged, and that the sensation, if the neck is not broken, may be compared to the pleasant stupor of drunkenness. If the neck is broken, the death is instantaneous. The gentleman who reports these experences suggests that to go out of the world by hanging is much more desirable than to wait for the slow, solemn, agonizing struggle with death which ordinary sickness involves; and he recommends all persons who have a natural antipathy to pain to try hanging.

Rev. Dr. Bond, of Baltimore, reports that when in New York, he went to a church where he "heard music which made him wonder how he got in without a ticket."

The editors of China call California the Golden Mountain. Editorials frequently appear in their newspapers on the subject of Chinese emigration and colonization.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered. It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

E. B. MOORE,	NATHANIEL BELL,
A. L. WALLACE,	G. R. WARD,
Mrs. MONTGOMERY,	JOHN M. HOLLOWAY,
W. D. PORTER,	ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others in that vicinity

Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.

Prepared by SMITH & ROACH, Harrisburg, Oregon.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

Weekly Oregonian.

FOR 1869.

Nineteenth Volume!

Only $3.00 a Year.

By common consent, the OREGONIAN ranks first among the papers published in the Northwest. It is the oldest paper in the State, and its circulation and influence are greater than that of any other two papers combined As a journal of enterprise in gathering the latest intelligence, and in giving in each issue a larger amount and greater variety of reading matter it has no competitor. It is thoroughly identified with this city and State and neighboring Territories, where the number of its readers and its influence are constantly increasing

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles, it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST, but to everything of moment to the great

Agricultural, Manufacturing,

AND MINING INTERESTS,

And to the development of the resources and settlement of the Northwest.

Its columns contain a carefully prepared digest of

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS

OF

Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana

TELEGRAMS FROM

THE EAST AND EUROPE

are published as full as in the California journals, and put before our readers from ONE TO THREE DAYS BEFORE ANY OTHER PAPER IN THE STATE.

Among its corps of writers are regular correspondents at New York and Washington City, men who, having lived in this State, are able to write on Eastern affairs, both politically and commercially from an Oregon standpoint.

Its Literary and General Selections are from the best sources.

EXTENDED AND RELIABLE

are furnished every week, giving the Financial, Dry Goods, Hardware, and General Market Reports of Portland, and the latest reports by Telegraph of the San Francisco and New York markets. These reports are acknowledged to be the most accurate published in the State.

In every department it will be, as it has been, the foremost in the State in the field of journalism. Being firmly established, it will go forward with confidence, making new plans for improvement and usefulness, and hopes to gain increased circulation and support.

TERMS:

One Year	$3 00.
Six Months	2 00.
Three Months	1 00.

The WEEKLY OREGONIAN has been a favorite paper for mailing to friends in the East. It will be mailed from the office at subscription rates.

Subscribers will find on each paper, with their names, the date on which their subscriptions expire, as entered on our books. In renewing, the name of subscriber and post office should be distinctly written.

All papers are discontinued at the end of the time for which they have been paid, the date of which is always printed with the name each week.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES. NEW REMEDIES.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from the absorbed into the system Look at their pallid, [illegible]ted and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of [illegible] or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let guardians friends attend to those who are suffering any of these horrible life-destroying maladies [illegible] they are cured for and cured before it be too late, [illegible] them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, [illegible] is certain to cure the most inveterate cases w[illegible] [illegible]cury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many [illegible]tended doctors who infest all cities, publishing [illegible] in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing [illegible] public by using the names of eminent phy[illegible] Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of [illegible] solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is [illegible] by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited [illegible] producing, with unerring certainty, the following [illegible] of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific [illegible] ical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, [illegible] the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, [illegible] the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confusion [illegible] blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence [illegible] preaching strangers, a dislike to form n[illegible] a disposition to shun society, loss of me[illegible] flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the [illegible] furred tongue, feted breath coughs, consumption [illegible] sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If [illegible] not obtained, should apply immediately, [illegible] in [illegible] or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new [illegible]entific mode of treating this disease, which never [illegible] effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove [illegible] rily to him that he was cured of this complaint by [illegible] of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are [illegible] under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay [illegible] obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give each patient a written instrument, binding himself to [illegible] radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT [illegible] by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from [illegible] curiosity, to any part of the country, with full directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in a registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and [illegible] who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the [illegible] Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen, and be[illegible] lazy to work at their trades Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence [illegible] etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but [illegible] find their former occupations in it Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863 The only way to avoid [illegible] is to make enquiry—it will cost you [illegible] may save you many regrets; for, as adver[illegible] [illegible] clans, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are Dr Gibbon does not deceive [illegible] by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended [illegible] letters, etc Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure

THE LAST SENSATION AT SALEM.—The capital city has a new sensation every day. The latest one is concerning the removal of Mr. Dyar as postmaster, and the appointment to his place of Mr. Thomas B Rickey. News has been received to that effect and whether true or not, it makes a sensation. Mr. Dyar has always been rather a favorite with the Salem public and as it was not known that anybody thought of getting his place, the news came like a small clap of thunder, which everybody heard and at which everybody started, but their hands to their ears and exclaimed, "rat a wicked world!"

NEARLY DUE.—The Hattie Besse, of the Mercer line from New York to Portland, has been out about one hundred and thirty days. As she is a fast sailer, her ... are beginning to look for her arrival. The Orizaba, a comparatively slow vessel, arrived out in one hundred and sixty days, after lying off the Columbia bar eleven days.

ANOTHER DROVE.—A drove of cattle and horses were taken up the river yesterday morning and another drove arrived to-day, to be sent up this morning.

going to White Pine are fully confirmed by a letter published in the Herald yesterday morning over the signature "Portland," and dated at Elko, March 9. Elko is the present terminus of the Central Pacific Railroad where pilgrims to White Pine take the stage for White Pine, and is a ... The writer of the letter says that the grub and accommodations are execrable and the charges exorbitant. The traveler is obliged to ... for sleeping on the ground in a tent, furnishing his own blankets if he has any. There were ... who spent all their money in getting there ... now in a suffering condition. ... I meet many who have returned from ... and they report Elko only a purgatory and White Pine the inferno—a place ... of substituting snow, ice and hunger for the fire and brimstone of theology. That rich mines exist there no one can deny; but they have not yet been prospected, and will not be before July next. Should any of your readers intend coming here, I would advise them not. But if they will ... I will furnish a list of fares and expenses ... From San Francisco to Sacramento $1; from Sacramento to Elko $40.00; meals on the road $ ...; from Elko to White Pine $50; meals $10; total cost from San Francisco $111.00; time, three days, distance, 700 miles. ... But onward they come. Every train is crowded with all ages and sexes. They heed not the advice given to remain at home, but rush forward like so many sheep led by a blind ewe, many of them like ... to destruction.

COPPER FROM ALASKA.—"Our recent purchase," Alaska, has ... to be ... in minerals, as well as in fish and furs that we have had seen any evidences of it till yesterday when we were shown a boulder of metal brought down from Sitka by Captain Langdon, of the steamer Geo. S. Wright. It is heavy and has almost the appearance of genuine gold though an expert would not mistake it. There was among those who saw it a diversity of opinion as to what it really was some believing it to be merely copper while others thought it might be a compound containing gold, silver and copper, or silver and copper alone. Accordingly, the nugget was yesterday taken to Charles F. Keuhn, jeweller, for test. Upon applying the acid test, copper was found to be in large proportion. No silver test had been applied when we visited Mr. Keuhn's place, but he thinks there may be a small per cent of silver in the metal. It is soft as pure copper, and the nugget may be readily sawn or cut. The specimen was brought to Sitka by the Indians, who say they procured it on what is called Copper Creek, and that it came from a burning mountain in a fused state. It seems to have been once fused and to have been run into a crevice in the rocks. Whether or not it contains any metal more precious than copper, the locality from which it was taken must be immensely rich, if the stories of the Indians be true.

ROAD ACROSS THE MOUNTAINS.—We learn, says the Commercial, that the Cascade Mountain Road, which leads from the Willamette valley over the mountain to the Des Chutes, will now shortly be ready for travel, as soon as the road shall become dry and solid. It is thought that there will be a large amount of travel over this road to Soda Springs, Fish Lake and Ochoco valley, during the summer, as this affords the cheapest and most practicable outlet from the upper portions of the valley, to those regions.

PRISONERS TO BE REMOVED.—Marshal Zieber has received instructions from the Secretary of the Interior, at Washington City, to remove the prisoners now in Multnomah county jail under sentence for robbing the mails on the Blue mountains, to the State prison of the State of California. Their names are Dave Johnson, Jerome Johnson, Newman McKay, J. J. Wheeler, Wm LeBur, and John Billings. Mr Zieber will accordingly depart with them per steamer Oriflamme to morrow.

GOOD TEMPLARS' SOCIABLE.—We learn by letter from Oregon City that the members of the Good Templars' Lodge at that place will visit this city this evening for the purpose of participating in a sociable to be given by the Portland lodges, at the hall in Carter's block. The meeting will take place at 8 o'clock P. M. and an invitation is extended to all members of the order to be present.

UP THE COLUMBIA.—The Commercial has received information that the steamer Spray left Celilo for Wallula on last Tuesday evening. The steamer Owyhee is now on the ways at Celilo, and will probably be repaired in time to start from Celilo for Wallula on Friday morning. The steamer Nez Perces Chief leaves Celilo for Umatilla every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday morning.

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure yesterday of meeting Hon. Geo. L Curry, formerly Governor of Oregon Territory, who has been absent in the east something over three years. He is looking in a good state of preservation and as though the Atlantic air had agreed with him remarkable well.

CANVAS-BACKS.—Messrs. W. H. Davis and D. Monastes have our thanks for a fine brace of canvas-backs, bagged by them on Tuesday. Judging by the number of similar "braces" in the hands of their friends, our huntsmen must have had a very successful day.

ARRIVED.—The bark Melancthon, Captain Patterson, Master, arrived at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, with a cargo of redwood lumber from Humboldt. She was, yesterday, discharging at Abernethy's wharf, foot of Taylor street.

CHEYENNE—ITS WONDERFUL AND RAPID GROWTH.—One of the most notable examples of rapid growth in recent times is furnished in the case of the infant city of Cheyenne, Wyoming Territory. On the 4th of July, 1867, it consisted of a single house. Now it boasts of a population of 7,000. It has six boot and shoe stores, five drug stores, eight dry goods stores, three clothing stores, five wholesale groceries, three hardware and cutlery stores, four stationery and Yankee notions firms, six wholesale liquor dealers, and four cigar and tobacco stores, besides twelve other firms engaged in various branches of business. There are four hotels, eight lawyers and seven physicians, in the place. Four papers, three daily and one weekly, are published in Cheyenne. The Union Pacific Railroad passes through it, and several lines of telegraph radiate from it. It contains one very fine church (Catholic), and three or four denominations are about to erect houses of worship. Formerly, when the Union Pacific railroad had its terminus there, the town was overrun with disreputable women to the number of five hundred or more, but a large proportion of them have followed the road to its next terminus. The youthful city supports a large number of gambling hells, several dance houses, a museum and theatre, all in full blast. The Union Pacific Company are building machine shops there, which, when completed, will employ some five thousand hands. The ranchmen, farmers, miners and stockmen of Idaho, Utah, Montana, Nevada, Dakota, and Oregon buy the bulk of their goods at Cheyenne. Twenty-one firms there last year reported a business of over $20,000 a month. The wages of masons, carpenters, common workmen, etc., are from four to ten dollars per day, and improved property sells for $100 a foot. Such are the magical effects of railroad enterprises on a grand scale in the West.

The standard of "repeal" has been lowered in Nova Scotia, and as Sir John Macdonald has agreed to bring in a bill reducing the Provincial debt from eleven to nine millions, and giving her an annual subsidy of $80,000 for ten years, it will probably be thrown aside altogether before long. The prospects for the flourishing dependency transferring its allegiance from John Bull to Uncle Sam are not so bright as they were.

WILLIAM KOEHLER,
DENTIST.
OFFICE—Southwest corner Front and Yamhill streets, opposite E J. Northrup & Co.'s Hardware Store.
I am now making, amongst other numerous styles of ARTIFICIAL TEETH, the improved Vulcanite Plates of Dr. G. W. Cool's Patent, patented Dec. 3d, 1867, the improvement of which consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold. It not only makes the plate double as strong but cleaner than the common Vulcanite Plate. It also can by it be made considerably thinner and lighter, whereas the price is but little above that for common Plates. Call and see specimens.
N. B.—Dentists wishing to secure the office right for Dr. G. W. Cool's Improved Vulcanite Plates, can have it made out to them by applying to the office.
N. B.—To strangers I would say, that a constantly increasing Dental Practice for the last five years in this city, will be a sufficient guarantee for them to receive a First Class and Finished Piece of Work. Numerous testimonials to the same can be given at the office.

HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a time but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, MARCH 25, 1869.

The Oregon Railroad Controversy.

We have repeatedly declared that with the controversy between the east and west side railroad companies we can have nothing to do as partisans of one side or the other. This position we intend to maintain. The controversy is not of a nature to be settled by newspaper advocacy. But we have never had any objection to making statements of facts relative to one side or the other, on the contrary, we have always been anxious to present such facts for public information. Much has been said recently concerning the discussion in the United States Senate relative to the land grant, but there are some things connected with it which have not yet been made public. As we have already published the correspondence between Senator Williams and Secretary Browning relative to the land grant, together with the letter addressed by the latter to S. G. Reed, Esq., as well as the substance of Williams' remarks in the Senate on the bill to revive and continue the grant, it is proper for us in justice to Senator Williams and Secretary May to publish the following letter as showing the principle on which Williams acted in bringing in the bill and affording May an opportunity for an explanation of a matter which, as unexplained, he considers puts himself in an erroneous position. The purpose of Senator Williams, it will be remembered, was, as he declared, to prevent the lapse of the grant and "maintain the interests of the State without favor to either of the companies." To enable the reader to obtain an intelligent comprehension of the letter alluded to, it will be proper to say that Williams in the debate stated that the designation of the west side company by the Legislature in 1866 had been determined by the Secretary of the Interior to be a void designation because no company was then in existence, and that the designation of the east side company in 1868 was made too late to allow it to receive the grant. To show that the west side company was in existence at the time the first designation was made, and that its articles of incorporation had been duly filed, the following telegram was read in the Senate:

Gaston presented for filing articles of incorporation Oregon Central Railroad Company, October 6, 1866; withdrawn with my consent. November 21, same year, Gaston filed duplicate papers for same company. SAMUEL E. MAY.

We now give the letter of which mention is made above:

[COPY.]

STATE OF OREGON, SECRETARY'S OFFICE, }
SALEM, March 16, 1869. }

HON. GEORGE H. WILLIAMS, UNITED STATES SENATE, WASHINGTON, D. C.: SIR: I have just read in the Daily Globe, under the head of "Oregon Central Railroad," the discussion of Senate bill No. 776.

As I am [illegible] to act quite a prominent part and a [illegible] has been placed [illegible] my telegram of late date by [illegible] not [illegible] by the facts in the [illegible] I feel it my duty to write this letter, [illegible] st in understanding [illegible] fully the [illegible] and [illegible] Con[illegible] aid to the [illegible] for [illegible] purposes, you may use in [illegible] you may think proper.

I wish to state just at this point, however, that I am in no possible way personally interested in either railroad enterprise; but, on the contrary, have furnished each of the disputants innumerable transcripts and certificates without the usual fees.

The act of Congress of July, 1866, was the key note, and early in the session of our Assembly of that year the question of a railroad from Portland to the California line was discussed in private circles, and [illegible] a law was passed to aid in the [illegible] of the "Oregon Central Railroad" and the adoption of a joint resolution by the Legislature designating the same to receive the grant of land [illegible] by Congress under the act [illegible]. On the 6th of October, 1866, Joseph Gaston [illegible] to my desk and said, in substance, (holding out a [illegible] paper): "These are articles of in[illegible] for a railroad. I wish you would [illegible] a filing mark on this [illegible] to-day; the [illegible] is now pending in the Legislature. I wish to use the papers a few minutes before a committee and will return them in a short time;" and upon this I m[illegible] a mark in pencil on the lower left hand [illegible] "Oct. 6, 1866." He then took the paper away and I never saw them again until sometime in January, 1869, when J. C. Ainsworth brought it to me, the same having been taken from the files in Multnomah county, that I might see that I had been mistaken in a former statement that the paper presented by Gaston, Oct. 6, 1866, I had marked upon the paper itself, [illegible] of an envelope, as I supposed and had so stated.

Some two weeks after the adjournment of the Legislature of 1866, Hon. J. S. Smith came into my office and wished to see the articles of incorporation of the "Oregon Central Railroad Company." I turned to the usual depository for such documents and not until thorough search did it occur to me that the papers referred to were not, neither had they been, in my possession other than has been before recited. Hence you will perceive that at the time of the adoption of the resolution designating the "Oregon Central Railroad Company" to receive the grant of Congress, no bona fide company was in existence, and the first articles of incorporation under that name were filed in my office November 18th, 1866, five weeks after the adoption of the designating resolution of the Assembly, by gentlemen who now compose in part what is here known as the East Side Company. November 21st, 1866, other articles of incorporation were filed by what is known as "Oregon Central Railroad Company" West Side. J. C. Ainsworth also showed me in January last a telegram from S. G. Reed, setting forth what he (Reed) wished me to say in a dispatch to him to be sent to the care of Hon. H. W. Corbett, which I so changed as to my mind, when taken in connection with all the facts known to the entire Oregon railroad delegation then in Washington, could not be perverted so as to convey any wrong impressions, but simply to show that the West Side company contemplated doing a certain act Oct. 6, 1866, which was not accomplished until November 21st, 1866.

I hope this statement will enable you to explain to Senators so much of the transaction as to which I have been made a party as will result in justice being done in the premises to all concerned.

I have the honor to be,
Your obedient servant,
[Signed] SAMUEL E. MAY.

Two days after writing this letter Secretary May sent the following telegram:

SALEM, March 18, 1869.

HON. GEO. H. WILLIAMS, UNITED STATES SENATE, WASHINGTON, D. C.:—I see by proceedings of Senate that my telegram at request of Ainsworth to Reed is wholly misunderstood. The facts are, articles incorporation of west side railroad were not filed in my office until November 21st, 1866, four weeks after adjournment of the Legislature. Have sent full particulars by mail.

(Signed) SAMUEL E. MAY,
Secretary of State.

We present the above simply as portions of the history of this controversy. We have nothing to do with arguing or advocating the case for either company. If the land grant belongs to one company or the other, legal proceedings and a judicial decision will be required to settle the matter, but if it is lapsed, the remedy proposed by Senator Williams was a good one for saving the grant to the State.

The people of Janesville, Wisconsin, are live and liberal. The postoffice at that place became such a bone of contention that its possession was referred to a vote of the people. Six candidates were out—one of them a woman, Miss Angie King. With true gallantry and commendable sound sense the people chose the lady by a large majority. There is no reason on earth why a woman will not preside over a postoffice just as well and worthily as a man.

In a comparison of exports and imports for the current fiscal year, the United States shows a ruinous outward drain. The net imports of merchandise amounted to $347,540,209; the net exports to $269,042,041—showing a balance against Uncle Sam of $78,507,168. National economy and good sound sense alike require that we should most liberally encourage and more rigidly protect home industry.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO MARCH 24.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—In the Senate, Pomeroy from the Committee on Public Lands, reported with amendments, a bill granting the right of way to the Midland Pacific railroad, which passed.

The Senate then elected John R. French, of North Carolina, Sergeant-at-Arms; John M. Morris, of South Carolina, Executive Clerk; and A. M. Clapp, of Buffalo, New York, Congressional Printer.

In the Senate, Kellogg introduced a bill in aid of the Central Pacific railroad.

Fessenden reported a resolution to correct an error in enrolling the civil appropriation bill by inserting the provisions requiring the proprietors of bonded ware houses to pay the salary of store keeper. Agreed to.

Williams, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported favorably to the bill amendatory of an act to aid the construction of a railroad from the Central Pacific line to Portland, as it was a company heretofore designated by the Legislature to file its assent to the said act within one year.

Cole introduced a bill granting lands in aid of the Sacramento Irrigating and Navigation Company. Referred.

The bill to repeal the Tenure of Office act was called up and postponed.

Drake offered a substitute to the bill amending the judicial system. It is designed to devolve all the duties of Circuit Courts now in existence, upon the District Courts and to reorganize the Circuit Courts with the District Courts in each circuit. Without action the Senate adjourned.

In the House a number of bills and resolutions were introduced and referred, including several railroad grant bills.

Winans introduced a bill granting the right of way to the Memphis, Elpaso and Pacific railroad from Elpaso to the Pacific. The bill passed under the operation of the previous question. This is General Fremont's bill.

Paine reported a resolution that persons elected to Congress, who are unable to take the test oath shall not have their claims considered by the House and shall not receive any compensation. Adopted by a strict party vote.

Julian introduced a bill to confirm the claim of the Yosemite valley.

The total number of bills introduced exceeded one hundred.

Paine moved to suspend the rules for the introduction and passage of a bill declaring votes cast for a member of Congress ineligible under the 14th amendment to be void, and the person receiving the next highest number to be admitted.

Eldridge wanted to know if he intended to force the bill through without discussion.

After some discussion the bill was introduced and made the special order for Wednesday next.

The report of the Conference Committee was agreed to making a Joint Committee on retrenchment to consist of four Senators and five Representatives.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Logan's bill to abolish the office of Chief of Staff to the officers of the army, passed.

Logan also offered a bill which passed, prohibiting retired officers from being assigned to duty of any kind or to receive more than pay and allowances provided for retired officers of his grade.

Lawrence offered a resolution to recall the concurrent resolution for adjournment. He said the reconstruction of Mississippi, Texas and Virginia required legislation now. Butler said various business required the attention of Congress at the present session. Davis, Farnsworth and others desired an early adjournment. There was nothing in the way of an adjournment next Friday if Congress will go to work at such legislation as is absolutely necessary. Quite a lengthy discussion ensued regarding the propriety of embarking in general legislation at the present session. On motion of Garfield, the resolution was laid on the table without a division.

Johnson moved a suspension of the rules to allow him to offer a resolution declaring that in the passage of the Fifteenth Amendment the House never intended that Chinese or Mongolians should not be suspended. Ayes, 42; noes, 106—a strict party vote.

Schenck reported a resolution which was adopted last session, recommending to the President a renewal of negotiations with Great Britain in regard to commercial intercourse and securing the rights of Americans in the fisheries of Almy coast, of British Provinces, and the navigation of rivers. Adopted.

The House adjourned.

From Cuba.

HAVANA, (via Lake City, Fla.), March 21.—A fleet of transports with State prisoners on board, sailed to-day for Fernandes, convoyed by a Spanish frigate, which will accompany them as far as the Bahama channel. Immense crowds assembled to witness the departure of the prisoners. The embarkment was effected quickly, under military guard. Some trouble occurred on one of the wharves by the discovery of a thief, who was caught, badly beaten, and finally taken to the volunteers' barracks. About the same time there was a disturbance near the Governor's Palace. A Cuban cried out, "Death to Spain, viva cespedes!" He was instantly shot dead by one of the sentry, on guard at the door of the Palace. Later in the day a police commissary of Romero, who, suspected of sympathy for the man arrested on the wharf, was assaulted in the street by the police, who shot and killed him. The Captain General hearing of the affair, and hoping to pacify the people, went to the barracks and organized a court-martial for the trial of the thief who, after a brief investigation, was sentenced to be shot. Intense excitement prevails throughout the city. Frequent cries are heard of "viva cespedes." There are fears of a riot.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Prince Louis, of Bourbon, was married last evening to Miss Emilie Hammil, of Cuba. The civil service was performed, Catholic Priests declining to perform one of a religious character.

There was a fire last night at No. 61 Reade street. Damage about $60,000.

The nitro-glycerine seized on Thursday, appears to have been consigned to an agent of the U. S. Government at Savannah.

Washington News.

CHICAGO, March 21.—A Washington special says the Senate Committee on the Pacific Railroad has reported adversely on the House bill allowing the Union Pacific Company to vote at its meetings outside. Fiske's counsel made a long argument before the committee against the bill.

The Republican's special says naval officers are beginning to find much fault with Borie's administration of the navy department. Complaints are made that Admiral Porter has too much influence; in fact, is Secretary of the Navy in all but form. This dissatisfaction is said to be universal, from Admiral Farragut down. It is not improbable that Borie will soon retire from the service.

Commissioner Delano will recommend no removals merely on political grounds, for the present, but only ask such changes when he can certify the good of the service will be thereby promoted.

Chief Engineer Roberts, of the navy, has resigned.

The vote on the repeal of the tenure of office law will be very close—possibly a tie—in which case the Vice President will vote for repeal.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—There is a movement among prominent negroes to establish a paper in this city in the interest of the colored people.

Dumas (colored) of New Orleans is candidate for Minister to Hayti.

The disposition of members of the House is generally to adjourn this session of Congress a week hence. Senators are not so anxious for adjournment.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The Herald's special says the delay in nominating Reverdy Johnson's successor is attributable to the fact that the President is carefully considering the best policy to be adopted in regard to the Alabama claims. He has resolved to adopt a very decisive course. The amount of his diplomacy will be simply sending a bill to the British government asking payment for depredations of the pirate ships on American commerce. Caleb Cushing is among those mentioned for Minister to England.

The same special says that in case the Senate refuses to repeal the tenure of office act, many now in favor will vote for its suspension for four years. Nye and the Southern Senators have agreed to vote against repeal. It is now certain that the repeal will be defeated. The President is highly incensed at the conduct of some of the Senators and is determined to make no further appointments unless the law is repealed.

Bigelow Lawrence, our Consul General to Italy, died in Washington yesterday.

CHICAGO, March 22.—The Washington specials all speculate on the prospect of the repeal of the tenure of office law. The Tribune's special says on the repeal of the tenure of office law, that there is no question involved which ought to render antagonistical the President and the Senate. The Senate is ready and willing to act upon any nomination, and will confirm at least 99 in every 100. It also details a conversation with Grant, who said that should Congress repeal the law he was ready to make nominations; if they refused, he should proceed very carefully and look over the field thoroughly before making removals. The Republicans will probably hold a caucus to day on the question of repeal. On suspension the Democrats begin to show a disposition to refrain from voting. Should three or four do so, repeal will certainly be defeated.

One of the last of President Johnson's acts was to order the issue of $2,500,000 of Government bonds to the Central Pacific Railroad in advance of the work. One of the first acts of President Grant was to stop this issue so that only $1,500,000 were issued by Secretary Cox. The whole amount asked for is involved in determining the point where the Union and Central roads shall meet. The Government Commissioners are now making examination for the settlement of this question.

The [illegible] special says efforts will be made to reconsider the vote that defeated Defrees [illegible] Superintendent of Public Printing.

[illegible] is preparing a plan providing for the removal of political disabilities of the Southern people by making certain affidavits, etc.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The Senatorial Republican caucus, after two hours session on the tenure of office bill, adjourned without action.

Morton, Grimes and Sprague, withdrew, refusing to bind themselves to the action of the caucus. It is generally believed the law will be suspended for four years.

Admiral Hoff writes that Salnave is besieging Aux Cayes, and would soon be [illegible] the place.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The President sent in several nominations to day.

Admiral Radford announces his arrival at Lisbon with the flagship Franklin, encountered very heavy weather in her passage from New York. Commodore Pennock had arrived on the Ticonderoga shortly previous.

CHICAGO, March 24.—A Tribune special says the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations have agreed to report favorably upon a treaty for the adjustment of claims with Mexico. There will be one commissioner on each side, with an umpire.

Mexico has already ratified the treaty.

Secretary Boutwell believes the department can be conducted so as to bring our bonds to par in foreign markets, at an early day. Letters from well informed financiers confirm this belief. All indications point to the speedy advance of our bonds.

The Republican's special says the Reconstruction Committee, after a protracted discussion, authorized Gen. Butler to report a bill for the construction of a provisional government for Mississippi. It provides for a constitutional convention, elected under the reconstruction act, which is to be authorized to assemble forthwith to exercise the power of forming a provisional government and submit to the people the constitution hereto framed. The provisional Governor to be subject to removal by the President, and the ordinance passed by the Convention to be enforced until discharged by Congress, or until Mississippi adopts a State constitution with the approval of Congress.

Miscellaneous.

NEW YORK, March 22.—A young German in Newark, being refused by a girl, shot her dead at her residence in that city, and then killed himself with the same pistol.

LOUISVILLE, March 21.—The Courier and Journal publishes an editorial declaring that Gen. Longstreet was guilty of smuggling in 1855 while commanding a fort on the Rio Grande, and was indicted for the crime in the District Court, but the Marshal was refused entrance into the fort to execute the process. A court of inquiry found Longstreet guilty, but Gen. Rugland, who commanded the district, being Longstreet's relative, set aside the finding.

BALTIMORE, March 24.—An Israelite named Hirsch committed suicide yesterday, by hanging himself in the Hebrew Synagogue.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Ten ladies graduated at the medical college for women yesterday.

The ship carpenters employed in Stevens' Battery, Hoboken, have been discharged because they objected to a reduction of wages.

Advices from St. Johns, New Brunswick, state that snow is six feet deep on a level. The Canadians are deserting the flats, fearing a disastrous flood.

RIO JANEIRO, March 22.—The Brazilian Minister of Foreign Affairs has gone to Asuncion to form a government. The Paraguayans have abandoned the place.

The Cuban Insurrection.

HAVANA, March 23.—Santago advices to the 18th represent that the insurgents are massing their forces on the south side of the island. The journals are all silent about military preparations.

The Captain General to-day held a grand review of all the regular and volunteer forces in Havana. He was enthusiastically cheered by the volunteers. Troops continue to be sent to the interior.

The Nassau Herald reports the capture of the brig Mary Lovell at Ragged Island by the Spanish man-of war Andalusia. The brig, at the time of her capture, was in the possession of the British Custom House officer. The British war steamer Cherub sailed for Ragged Island to investigate the affair. The Havana Government is fully advised of the conduct of the commander of the Andalusia. The Peruvian Ministers remain at Ragged Island. During their voyage one of the rams broke loose, ran into the steamer Havana and sunk her.

NEW YORK, March 24.—The Brazilian Times of February 23d says the expedition into the country returned to Asuncion with one thousand starving passengers.

Lopez is still in the mountains and Minister McMahon still remains with him. Lopez's scouting parties massacred the Paraguayans who remained when the army left.

The cholera is prevalent throughout the country.

Baron Manas, of the Bank of Montioredio, failed, and created considerable monetary excitement.

A severe drought prevails in the interior. The inhabitants are fleeing to the sea coast for food and water, and large numbers of cattle are dying.

Emigration to Virginia.

RICHMOND, March 22.—The Whig says there will be a large immigration to Virginia from Europe. Northern men also are prospecting for settlements.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

PARIS, March 21.—In the Corps Legislatif, yesterday, Marshal Neil, Minister of War, urged the completion of the reorganization of the army. Peace, he said, was secured, but France would not tolerate a government which was not fully prepared to avenge an insult if offered; but yet he considers the present situation of Europe eminently peaceful.

FLORENCE, March 21.—The question concerning the property of the clergy has been definitely settled.

MADRID, March 21.—During the recent fight at Barricades, in Xeres, over a hundred soldiers were killed and wounded. The loss of the citizens was heavy, but the number killed is unknown.

PARIS, March 22.—The Patrie says that Grant's message and the composition of his Cabinet accord perfectly with the idea of government centralization, which has predominated since 1860, and which now seems to be adopted as the doctrine of the great Republic. The Cabinet does not contain a single really influential man. Grant remains the sole and veritable director of the American Government.

LONDON, March 22.—The Turkish Minister Phobades has refused a legation at Athens.

LONDON, March 23.—In the House of Commons this evening the Committee on the mail steamers reported, refusing to sanction the contracts made by the Government with the Cunard and Inman lines of steamers for carrying the mails on the present terms.

LONDON, March 22.—In the House of Commons to day, Fortesque, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said the Government did not intend to extend its clemency to other Fenians now in prison.

The debate on the Irish Church was resumed. Sir Roundell Palmer made a speech favoring the disestablishment but opposing disendowment, and said he would propose and urge modifications of the bill before the committee.

Sir John Duke of Coleridge, Solicitor General, advocated the bill, approving it in all its points.

FOREST GROWTH AND MOISTURE.—The Sandwich Islands afford the best illustration extant of the theory that forest growth conduces to the production of moisture. They are, as all well know, of the almost barren soil, having sprung from the ocean at the call of some earthquake fiend. Indeed, all the soil surface they possess may be said to have been formed since their emergence by detrition of rock and decay of mineral substances. Vegetation was at first unknown, but since the islands have been turned to account for agricultural purposes, and with each year's increase in tropical vegetation, rains are becoming more plenty. It is within the memory of many of the inhabitants when several months of the year were entirely dry. Now copious showers fall during all the months, and the increase in numbers and quantities keeps pace with the enterprise and taste of the citizens in planting groves and raising forests, not to say anything of the vegetable and natural growth of the country.

A correspondent of German agricultural paper, who has been traveling through Turkey and Greece, gives a [illegible] account of the state of agriculture in Greece. He says: "The Greeks have not the smallest inclination for agricultural pursuits, all [illegible] is commerce and speculation. The [illegible] moment, too, leaves the country without the necessary means of communication, and the destruction of forests is carried on to such an extent that the want of water is every year greater, and cultivation becomes more and more difficult."

Small Notes.

The Virginia papers are bewailing the demoralization of Virginia society, by the introductions of Northern customs and fashions. Among other lamentable innovations, we are told that the round dance—"a thing that, ten years ago, would have convulsed our social circles with a cry of indignation"—has been introduced among the First Families.

By the report of the American Iron and Steel Association it appears that the amount of pig iron produced in the country during 1868 was 1,603,000 tons of 2,000 pounds. Of this Pennsylvania produced 1,022,535 tons, New York, 158,051 tons, Ohio, 318,000 tons, and 71,861 tons by Michigan, Maryland, the New England and other States. The estimated value of the pig iron was $68,000,000.

In relation to the constitutional amendment recently proposed by the Senate and rejected by the House, Wendell Phillips was for once in his life "Conservative." He took ground against the Senate proposition in so far as it forbade the educational test in connection with the suffrage and affirmed the right of the negro to hold office, a right he now possesses wherever the people can be brought to acquiesce.

It is said that the refusal of General Grant to ride with Andrew Johnson on Inauguration day, is not without a precedent. When General Jackson reached Washington in 1829, the then President, Mr Adams, refused to hold any intercourse with General Jackson on account of the Mrs. Eaton scandal, and on the morning of the 4th of March, when Jackson was sworn into office, Mr. Adams, instead of going to the Capitol, went from the executive mansion to a private dwelling. General Jackson rode to the Capitol alone and Mr. Adams took no part in the ceremonies.

Railroad Intelligence.

The following telegram was received at this office yesterday, and we give it publicity as a matter of news:

WASHINGTON, March 24, 1869.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:
Senate Committee, after a full investigation, yesterday unanimously reported east side bill, with recommendations that it pass.
J. H. MITCHELL.

THE SPECIFIC CONTRACT DECISION.—The following is the substance of the decision of the United States Supreme Court, on the specific performance of gold contracts:

Frederick Bronson, Executor, &c., plaintiff in error, vs. Peter Rodes, in error to the Court of Appeals of the State of New York.

Chief Justice Chase delivered the opinion of the Court to the effect that contracts for the payment of coin should be enforced by the court according to the intent of the parties. In this case a mortgage was made to secure payment of $1,500 in the State of New York in 1851, and it was provided that the money should be paid in coin, the legal money of the United States. In January, 1865, tender was made in treasury notes, which was refused, and the action was brought to enforce such payment and secure a ratification of the mortgage in pursuance thereof. The Court of New York held that the tender was a discharge of the mortgage, and directed it to be cancelled. The Supreme Court now hold that there are two descriptions of lawful money in circulation, both sanctioned by the law and both therefore legal tender; that in view of this fact, contracts for payment must be enforced, and that where coin is provided to be paid, judgment should be for such description of money; but where no description is made, judgment should be entered generally without specification. The judgment of the Court of Appeals is reversed, with costs, and the cause remanded for further proceedings in conformity to proceedings of the Supreme Court. Justice Davis and Swayne concurred, briefly delivering separate opinions, and Justice Miller dissented.

IN HOC SIGNO VINCES.—Quick sales and small profits. "By this sign we shall conquer" all opposition at THE OREGON DISPENSARY. The same inscription might be properly affixed to another sign which is the symbol of hundreds of successful battles with the BODILY AILMENTS of our citizens at less costs than formerly. All purchase Drugs, Medicines, Perfumeries, etc., etc., at the CHEAPEST and Best Drug Store in Portland, and receive Medical and Surgical attention gratuitously.
LORYEA & KALLENBERG, 73 First street.
DR. J. A. CHAPMAN, Consulting Physician and Surgeon.

GREAT EXCITEMENT.—The constant buzz of activity at KOHN & FISHEL's yesterday, was occasioned by the receipt and opening of a very large and complete stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods—Spring Styles—purchased and sent up from San Francisco, by Mr. Fishel, who is acknowledged to be one of the best judges of that line of goods, doing business in this city. Call and see the Spring Styles.

Synopsis of the Scenery and Incidents.

ACT 1.
Scene 1—Parlor of the Courtlands. New Year's day; visitors; good night; the sleigh bells; Laura and Pearl Courtland, the soldier messenger, the bouquet; the letter, the strange man in black; the disclosure, Laura's early history, the beggar girl; Ray's sorrow, his fears of what the world—society—will say; the letter.
Scene 2—Delmonico's. Sam at his post; the arrivals for the ball; the coat; the letter.
Scene 3—Ball room at Delmonico's. The dance; Laura not here—I will go for her; the letter again, female curiosity, the discovery of Laura's early history; what is to be done? expel her from society, Laura's agony.

ACT 2.
Scene 1—Basement of a New York tenement house. Peachblossom, the stove polish that wasn't stove polish, old Judas; have you any old clothes, my dear? the recognition, where's my shoe? arrival of Laura; the change of base, Bermudas, the stove-polish operator; Peanuts, the newsboy; the row, Peachblossom the victor, the soldier messenger, letter for you, miss; Ray Trafford tries to win Laura back to her old home; the proud girl's refusal, Byke, Laura dragged from her new home.

ACT 3.
Scene 1—The interior of the Tombs police office. Justice Bowling, the pickpocket; the organ grinder; the colored citizen; the Tombs lawyer; Laura dragged before the police magistrate; Justice is blind.
Scene 2—Exterior of the Tombs, Centor street, New York [by Hires]. The song merchant; Peachblossom and Judas; the soldier messenger off the trail; Bermudas offers to share his home with Snorkey; accepted—where is it? under the Pier 30, North River; the greenbacks; price of hotel board in New York.
Scene 3—Pier 30, North River, Jersey City by gaslight [painted by Hires]. Byke and old Judas; the dock rats; Bermudas and Snorkey, how the New York boys amuse themselves at home; the dance; the police boat; Snorkey on the lookout; Byke; ah! the police are here; throw her into the river; 'tis done; Snorkey to the rescue; the blow; denouement.

ACT 4.
Scene 1—Long Branch. Song, "When the war is over, Mary;" Pearl Courtland; The party for Shrewsbury; Peachblossom discovers Laura Ray; "Love is all a woman has to give, but it is the only earthly thing which God permits us to carry beyond the grave."
Scene 2—Wood near Shrewsbury bend. Byke and Judas; their horrible designs; cut her throat; ah, "there is some one in the bushes there; we are overheard" Snorkey; his despondency; poor Nettly at Fredericksburg; hit with a shell, capital in the next world.
Scene 3—Railway station at Shrewsbury bend; and station shed [by Hires]. The signal man, Laura; may I sleep in there; that shed? that's a queer hotel; the request granted; running away from a young man; the train will soon be here, won't it; it's an express and don't stop here; how can I prevent the murder? Byke; Snorkey taken by surprise; tied to the rails; horrible situation; the train rushes past!

ACT 5.
Scene 1—Long Branch; Pearl's boudoir; the robber and murderer; the rescue. Denouement!
